TREE HUGGERS LOSE TO SAWS

CHICAGO (AP)—The battle was between the tree huggers and the city. The city won, 100-0.

Conservationist Stuart Chase described the holding action on the lakefront Thursday:

They started up their chain saws and, with blades whirling, charged at us and cut the tree off right on top of us. They tried to drop trees on people and wave whirling chain saws at everybody. If people had been chained to trees, they would have been cut in half.

People were hugging trees and standing next to trees, and they'd see how close they could cut. I swear, I thought they'd cut Bernie Baum's hand off.

Dr. Bernard Baum, 39, a sociologist, had sawdust in his hair as he talked to reporters.

Turkey, Iran Aid Pakistan

ISTANBUL (AP) — Turkey and Iran today rejected an appeal from ally Pakistan for jet aircraft but promised to provide other military aid, government sources said.

Both countries decided to aid Pakistan in its fight with India, these sources said.

The aid will include jet fuel and gasoline from Iran and guns and ammunition from Turkey. The latter are being sold by Turkey under a long-standing commercial agreement with Pakistan.

REPORT FLAYS PRIVATE STATIONS

'Worst of American Fare Dominates TV'

FOWLER

OTTAWA (CP) — Proposals for shaking up—violently—the entire Canadian radio and television industry were delivered to the government Thursday by the Fowler committee on broadcasting.

The bluntly-stated aim: Better and more balanced programming, less American and more Canadian content, to be enforced by regulation if necessary.

Chief proposal in the committee's 140,000-word report is creation of an all-powerful Canadian Broadcasting Authority.

It would set the general programming policies of the CBC directly and those of private stations indirectly by holding life-or-death control of their licences.

It calls for abolition of the Board of Broadcast Governors, the present regulatory agency

Pakistan Rejects Peace Bid As Troops Drive Into India

First Oil Workers On Strike

SASKATOON (CP)—Six employees of Empire Oil Co. Ltd. went on strike today for higher wages in a move that could become nation-wide.

Mike Germann, president of the Saskatoon Local of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union (CLC) said 105 employees at the Royaltite Co. Ltd. refinery here would walk out Monday if a settlement was not reached during the weekend.

Royaltite workers joined Empire Oil employees in a picket line at the Empire plant.

This will be the start of a nation-wide strike if no settlement is reached during the weekend, Mr. Germann said.

James R. Duncan, Canadian director of the union, said Thursday in Toronto a general strike would involve 3,500 workers.

Mr. Duncan said the strike could eventually involve all major oil refineries from Saint John, N.B., to Vancouver.

In Port Credit, Ont., the Texaco of Canada Ltd. branch of Local 9-593 voted Thursday to go out on strike if necessary.

John Kane, president of the local, said the 161 Texaco workers voted almost 97 per cent in favor of strike action.

Another branch of the local, some 370 workers at the Clarkson plant of British American Oil, voted Wednesday in favor of strike action and the results of a strike vote at the British Petroleum Ltd. refinery at Oakville are expected to be made public today.

Mr. Kane said other locals, five in Toronto and one in Hamilton, have scheduled strike votes for next week.

The union is asking a 40-cent-an-hour increase over the current average $2.75—an-hour wage. Management has offered 10 cents.

Peterson Would Act

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson today indicated he will take action aimed at preventing a strike in the B.C. oil industry.

He declined to comment on what his department is doing now towards heading off the strike threat but added:

"I would regard a work stoppage in that industry as very serious indeed and I personally, as well as my department, will do everything possible to avert it."

FIREMEN LEADS two women from their homes in waist-deep flood waters after Hurricane Betsy swept through New Orleans late Thursday night causing heavy damage. (AP Wirephoto.)

Hurricane Rips New Orleans In Final Furious Onslaught

'Pieces of Glass Whipped Through Air Like Bullets'

United Press International reporter Thomas Harvey was caught in the fury of hurricane Betsy while driving from his storm-menaced home into New Orleans.

By THOMAS K. HARVEY

NEW ORLEANS—The wind lifted my car up on two wheels and spun it around. That was when I had enough of hurricane Betsy.

I got out of the car at the height of the storm just before midnight and it was like stepping into hell.

Sharp pieces of glass from broken neon signs whipped through the air like bullets. Large squares of metal roofing cartwheeled up the street, slicing into anything in their path.

Huge tree limbs covered with the fanned hanging moss of old New Orleans cracked off and dropped to the streets.

The noise, the driving rain, the sheer terror of trying to get to shelter was an unforgettable experience. Then I saw the lights of the Hotel

Jung up ahead and, somehow, I made it.

People were streaming out of the lake area by the thousands. The streets became almost impassable with fallen trees and debris as the wind velocity increased.

I saw a child's little red wagon go trundling down the street by itself.

New Orleans is famous for the thousands of mammoth oak trees covered with moss which form dark, green tunnels over many streets. It will never be the same after Betsy.

These trees have fallen in many areas. Some of the trees which are still standing have had large limbs—often larger than a normal tree—broken like matches.

I tried to drive back downtown. It was a distance of three or four miles and normally would take about 15 minutes. Last night, it was a two-hour struggle through a darkened, crippled city.

BROADCASTING CZAR URGED

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hurricane Betsy flung spray and seas at the gulf coast and then stormed up the Mississippi River early today in what probably was its final black night of ruin.

The storm sank much of the Bayou country to the south under muddy tides, clawed at this city of 1,000,000 people in the early morning hours, then swirled inland passing 20 miles to the west of the state capital of Baton Rouge.

Leaving the sea, its once 150-mile-an-hour winds moderated, bringing near to a close a 15-day, 2,500-mile voyage of destruction that killed at least seven persons.

The weather bureau said Betsy would weaken to heavy rains and winds in northern Louisiana and Mississippi.

The almost 250,000 evacuees from Louisiana and Mississippi would begin to return to towns and cities left soggy junkyards by the hurricane.

RESCUED FROM ROOFS

"It was hell," said Burt Lozes, a member of the civil defence forces of Harrison County, Miss., where 17 people had been rescued from rooftops, submerged cars and floods where they were swimming for their lives. Damage to waterfront industries in the county, particularly in Gulfport, was estimated at $10,000,000 by civil defence director Wade Guice.

The wind turned the Mississippi waterfront into a maelstrom of helpless ships, blown loose from their moorings and battering each other.

"I hope the time will come in the years ahead when I will have securce and get back to my ivory tower," he replied. "But that's a long way ahead yet."

Justice To Probe Vote Loss

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said today the justice department has been asked to find out whether any way can be found to prevent university students from losing their votes in the Nov. 8 election.

He said there is not the slightest connection between the possible loss of the vote by resident students at universities and the Liberal party's advice to campaign workers that it is among youth, especially university students, that the party's support has slipped since 1963.

Mr. Pearson said he will formally launch his election campaign here Tuesday, Sept. 21, at a meeting of Liberal candidates, party workers and the national executive.

Mr. Pearson, 68, also made it plain that he plans to lead the Liberal party for some years to come. He was asked about rumors that he plans to retire in about two years.

"I hope the time will come in the years ahead when I will have securce and get back to my ivory tower," he replied. "But that's a long way ahead yet."

VIET CONG 'STRONGHOLD' MERE HAMLET

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. and Vietnamese special forces today occupied the hamlet of Phuoc Xa Tay 325 miles northeast of Saigon after B-52 bombers from Guam dumped hundreds of tons of bombs. But the area, long considered an impenetrable communist stronghold, was deserted.

The village had been described as a major Viet Cong communications centre garrisoned by 200 men but a force of 200 men flown in by helicopter found only oxcart trails which showed up on photographs as sandbagged trenches.

A dispatch from the scene said what had appeared to be radio antennas turned out to be bamboo spikes and that the costly operation had gone for nothing although the planes did deliver their bombs on target with devastating efficiency.

Y can't expect radio an' TV to please everybody. It's when it pleases nobody y'hev to do somethin'.

Looks like th' sub-continent'll be in pieces b'fore it's at peace.

CRUCIAL ISSUE

OTTAWA (CP)—Quotes from the Fowler committee report on broadcasting:

"The only thing that really matters in broadcasting is program content; all the rest is housekeeping."

"There is no point in asking where a national broadcast system is going. It will go only where it is pushed by conscious and articulate public policy, or where it drifts if there is no policy."

"The Canadian broadcasting system has become mature physically; it should now be more mature mentally."

"Mediocrity and triviality are more damaging to Canadian television and its audiences than an occasional controversial program."

"One of the essential tasks of a broadcasting system is to stir up the minds and emotions of the people and occasionally to make large numbers of them acutely uncomfortable."

Today, radio has become a daily grind of news, weather, comedy and music, music, music—nearly all recorded."

Bamberton to Get $2.2 Million Kiln

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

HELSINKI—Lari, a dog that can smell out iron ore deposits, has been awarded 7,000 marks (about $2,400) worth of sausages by the Finnish government.

The man who originally thought up the idea of training the dog, a German Shepherd, received 1,500 marks (about $50). In a competition between Lari and an ore prospector, Lari turned up 1,330 pieces of rock of geological interest while the man found only 270 in the same area.

The Finns now are training a second dog.

CASTELGANDOLFO, Italy—Pope Paul VI has accepted a gift of a new German-built limousine, commenting that the sport of auto racing was both "beautiful and frightening."

The automobile—the longest in the stable of papal cars—has been presented by chairman Herman Baer and other representatives of the German (Mercedes) car firm.

The limousine is equipped with air-conditioning, telephone and television. The Pontiff thanked the German delegation for the gift and immediately took a trial run in the limousine through the gardens of the papal summer residence at Castelgandolfo.

MOSCOW—The Soviets are using matchbook covers to give women fashion tips. The program is part of the new campaign to make Russian women more attractive.

The matchbooks carry pictures of models in dresses and suits plus a leaflet titled "Everyone can learn the art of fashion."

VANCOUVER—Unexpected notoriety came Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood and their two teen-age daughters of Montreal, and all because their train was late.

They were to board the P and O-Orient liner Oriana, due to sail at noon for Sydney, Australia. But by noon their train had not arrived from the east.

The liner was held at her dock. A dockside band delved deep into its repertoire to keep passengers lining the railings amused.

Finally the Woods arrived.

They were greeted by a loud blast of trumpets from the band and the cheers and hand-clapping of more than 1,900 shipboard passengers.

Then the Oriana cast off—25 minutes late.

SAN FRANCISCO—How do you store a cold cache of hot ice cream?

San Francisco police are looking for thieves who have that problem. Eight thousand ice cream bars were among the loot taken in a burglary of the Crown Vending Company.

PAKISTAN

shells fell on Ferozepore, 10 miles inside India.

Pakistan asserted its troops had crossed into India on this front and had captured positions 20 miles from Amritsar, 50 miles north of Ferozepore.

India charged Pakistani planes attacked the air field at Baghigora, one of the most important in eastern India, 24 miles south of Darjeeling. A spokesman said two planes were destroyed on the ground and a Pakistani Sabre jet was shot down.

"India has not wanted to extend the fighting to the eastern sector," he said. "But this is one more example of Pakistani aggressive action which could lead to an escalation of the fighting."

This led to speculation the fighting would spread to the east, where New Delhi has complained Pakistani troops have been firing on Indian positions.

East and West Pakistan are divided by 1,000 miles of Indian territory.

Without confirmation, press reports said 300 Pakistani paratroopers were dropped east of Darjeeling in Assam state between Shillong, the state capital, and Gauhati. The latter is a centre for the main supply route to Indian forces in the northeast frontier agency, where they face Chinese Communist troops.

Ocean Cement Ltd. will spend almost half of a $4.6 million expansion program at the Bamberton cement manufacturing plant on the Malahat.

William F. Foster, president of the company, said Thursday the major expenditure of plant expansion and capital equipment was required to keep up with the building and construction boom in B.C.

Of the $4.6 million to be spent, $2.2 million will be required to build a new rotary kiln at Bamberton.

The kiln, which will be one of the largest in Canada, will weigh more than 1,200 tons, be 15 feet in diameter and 475 feet long. It will be driven by two 200 horsepower engines and be capable of producing 250 barrels (1,000 bags) of cement clinker per hour.

Cement kilns are among the largest pieces of moving equipment in the world and convert raw slurry into cement at temperatures one quarter of the sun's surface temperature.

Earlier this year Ocean brought a new clinker grinder into operation at a cost of $1 million.

When present expansion programs are completed the plant will have a manufacturing capacity of 4.8 million barrels of cement per year—an increase of 60 per cent over present capacity.

TWO SILOS

Other expansion programs will be carried out at the company's distribution centre in New Westminster where $300,000 will be spent on the erection of two silos, each capable of holding 12,000 barrels of cement.

The new facilities will also provide bulk storage for four types of cement and permit bulk loading of rail cars and bulk road carriers.

Construction of a new concrete plant at Marpole at an estimated cost of $660,000 has already started.

NEW TUG

The company's marine fleet and ready-mix concrete fleet also share in the expansion plans.

A new 68-foot twin-screw 760 horsepower tug, a 2,000-ton self-unloading aggregate barge and a 2,000-ton scow will be built and the well-known coastal tug M. V. Gillking will be modernized and re-powered.

Total cost of the marine program will be $655,000.

Six new 10-yard ready mix concrete trucks will be bought at a cost of $35,000 each and other additions and replacements will be made to rolling stock for a total cost of $614,000.

Two Toronto Girls Found Shot to Death

TORONTO (CP)—Two young Toronto secretarial students were found shot to death in their car near a deserted farm north of here Thursday. Near by lay the body of a 64-year-old man police say shot the girls and himself.

The bodies of Joyce Orlowski and Wanda McDonald, both 19, were found in the front seat of Miss Orlowski's car on a trash-strewn lane in nearby Vaughan Township. Police believe they were kidnapped at gunpoint Wednesday afternoon.

Six feet from the car lay Philip Young of Toronto, shot through the left eye, a .22-calibre revolver in his right hand. Miss McDonald was shot through the cheek at close range. Miss Orlowski was shot through the throat and also through the thigh. Police said the clothing of one of the girls had been disturbed.

Police said a warrant for Young had been sworn Aug. 9 by his wife who told police he had attacked her with a steam iron after a domestic dispute. She spent several days in hospital with injuries.

MISS McDonald was shot through the cheek at close range. Miss Orlowski was shot through the throat and also through the thigh. Police said the clothing of one of the girls had been disturbed.

POWER FAILED

Police in the city were hampered in reporting damage as two-thirds of their radio frequencies were out because of power failure and the others were jammed.

In the state capital of Baton Rouge, state police headquarters had to transfer to emergency generators.

The wind was reported to have peaked at 140 m.p.h. at Thibodaux. The Lake Charles weather bureau station took over tracking the storm after power failure at the New Orleans bureau.

Not since 1947 had the eye of a hurricane passed this near to New Orleans. That storm took 21 lives.

Directly in the path of the hurricane were the 4,800 drilling and pumping rigs of Louisiana's $1,000,000,000 offshore oil industry. Their fate was uncertain. The stork-legged towers had been vacated of their 3,000 workers in advance of the storm.

BROADCASTING REPORT

royal commission on broadcasting; Marc Lalonde, 35, Montreal lawyer, and Ernest Steele, 45, undersecretary in Mr. LaMontagne's department.

They were assigned to look at the whole field of broadcasting and suggest how it could be improved.

The Fowler committee warned:

"There is no point in asking where a national broadcast system is going. It will go only where it is pushed by conscious and articulate public policy."

Such a policy should be laid down by parliament, stating clearly what broadcasters in the public and private sectors are expected to do. Then power should be given to the new authority to carry out the policy.

PROPOSES BAN

Among other major proposals were:

"A ban on morning TV broadcasting, now heavy with old movies, to clear the channels for educational telecasts."

"Removal of the CBC headquarters from 'remote' Ottawa to locate it in Montreal, closer to the mainstream of Canadian life."

"Production of more TV programming aimed at telling English and French Canada about each other, particularly by the CBC which the committee felt has fallen down on this job."

"Limitations on color TV to Toronto and Montreal until after 1970."

"Complete studies on the influence of community antenna TV systems on national broadcasting."

"Five-year financing of the CBC by Parliament, rather than on an annual basis, with the grant fixed at $25 annually for each Canadian household with a TV set."

The report pictures an authority headed by a full-time chairman—literally a czar of broadcasting—with 14 part-time members drawn from varied regions and walks of life. It would have a large staff of experts and ample facilities.

Mr. Fowler also declined to suggest any names of candidates for the jobs. Asked whether he was one, he replied with an emphatic "No!"

As a method of tightening control over private broadcasting, the report says each private station should be asked to submit a set of program objectives based on the size and ability of the station. Industry-wide rules for programming would be scrapped.

When acceptable to the authority, these program objectives would become conditions of the station's licence.

Breaches of the conditions could be punished by fines or, in serious cases, licence suspension.

The report says the performance today of private stations—particularly the so-called "second-best" TV stations in major cities—bears little relationship to the promises made to the BBG in licence applications.

War Tempers Rock Ottawa Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—Pakistan and India clashed head-on at the 54th Inter-Parliamentary Union conference Thursday despite a plea from Canada for the meeting to put aside the world's quarrels and take a positive approach.

No sooner had Canadian delegate Marcel Lambert appealed to delegates to stop trying to "beat each other and make debating points" than representatives from the two warring Asian nations tore into each other with charges of aggression and violation of international agreements.

Pakistan's A. Jabbar Khan argued that the Kashmir problem remained unsolved for 18 years because India refused to keep its commitment for a United Nations-supervised plebiscite. He said the present conflict was initiated by Indian border crossings and widened because of Indian bombings of Pakistani territory.

Back came Mrs. Renu Chakravarty, an Indian Communist MP, with a flat denial that India had violated the UN agreement. Several votes had been held in the Indian sector of Kashmir; what about the Pakistani sector?

ISN'T FOR QUARRELS
Mr. Lambert, outgoing Conservative MP for Edmonton West, said the conference of 600 delegates from 61 national parliaments was not a forum for airing quarrels, but rather "a meeting of parliamentarians in the truest sense for the expression of ideas and aspirations."

Viet Nam and Kashmir are important issues, he said, but conference time could best be spent "getting down to brass tacks" on proposals to improve world trade and the international monetary system.

Mr. Khan, then next speaker, demanded to know what had happened to the plebiscite promised by the late Indian prime minister Nehru? Pakistan had accepted every UN suggestion in this regard, but "the ceasefire line has repeatedly been crossed by Indian forces and Pakistan posts occupied."

Pakistan had to defend itself, but even here its action was confined to Kashmir. India was guilty of "deliberately enlarging the conflict" by bombing major Pakistani centres 1,000 miles from the ceasefire line.

Earlier in the day External Affairs Minister Martin shied away from the crises in Viet Nam and Kashmir and concentrated instead on United Nations affairs and peacekeeping efforts in particular.

GIVES RIGHT

He suggested that participation in peacekeeping operations—Canada has taken part in all of them—gives smaller and middle powers "the right to contribute to the formation of policy on matters of major concern." These smaller nations equally had a right through their UN membership to take all possible action if the major powers were unable to solve problems of the day.

Mr. Martin said that, once it gets its peacekeeping role straightened out on a long-term basis, the UN should strengthen its capacity for "peace building."

"It is imperative that the United Nations develop further its capacity for mediation and conciliation to bring about a solution to the political disputes which lead to conflict. Here lies perhaps the greatest potential benefit of United Nations intervention."

The minister departed from his prepared text to support an earlier call by UN Secretary-General U Thant, in a conference speech delivered in absentia, for Communist China's participation in any world disarmament conference organized by the UN.

"I would look forward to the participation of Communist China in a world disarmament conference if that takes place," said Mr. Martin.

'Must Control Chemicals'

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—A B.C. scientist said today there is need for government action in control of the uses of agricultural chemicals.

C. L. Neilson, provincial entomologist of the B.C. agricultural extension department, told the annual conference of the Canadian Agricultural Chemicals Association that shortcomings in use of agricultural chemicals are due mainly to insufficient knowledge of the effect of chemicals on species other than pests being eliminated.

He also said government and industry back new chemicals quickly without showing similar enthusiasm for underlining precautions surrounding their use.

Heavy in the Balance

THE HEAVY SURGE IN IMPORTS to Canada in the first half of this year revealed in figures from the Bureau of Statistics in Ottawa is in sharp contrast to the modest rise in exports for the period shown in statistics released earlier.

To the end of June imports had reached a level of $4,074,300,000, an increase of 30.1 per cent over the first six months of 1964. In the same period exports rose by only 2.1 per cent to $4,019,200,000, leaving a deficit of $55,100,000.

The deficit by itself is not so large that it cannot be reversed by year end, principally through the huge Russian wheat and flour sales. What is worrisome is that the rise in imports was so rapid compared with exports in what could be termed Canada's normal commercial trade. The wheat sale, in other words, came along as a life-saver, but there is no guarantee that it can be counted on year after year.

As could be expected, Canadian-American trade produced the largest increase in both imports and exports, with the former up 11.9 per cent at $2.9 billions and the latter up 12.7 per cent at $2.36 billions. Despite the slightly higher percentage gain in exports over imports, the deficit with the United States rose to $562.4 millions in the first six months of this year compared with $518.4 millions in the same period of 1964.

These are raw figures only and take no account of what was imported from the United States, whether it was largely productive machinery and supplies which would augment the Canadian productive capacity, or whether imports were heavy in non-productive goods which would be a drain on the economy.

The impact of the tightening-up in Britain's economy was reflected in the trade figures which showed exports to that country off 11.9 per cent in June compared with the same month last year, and off 2.1 per cent in the half year. The heavy trade surplus with Britain which Canada has enjoyed for a number of years was cut to $280.5 millions from the previous year's $287.5 millions and the expectation is that it will be cut still further by the end of the year.

On the other hand import figures don't show any impact from Britain's efforts to step up sales to Canada. Imports from the U.K. in June were actually down by 5.4 per cent from the previous year while they were off by 1.6 per cent for the half year.

Taken as a whole the trade figures for the first six months of the year are not very bright and certainly do not reflect the kind of expansion in non-agricultural exports which Canada must achieve in order to put its trade balances right over the long term.

The significance of the fact that imports last June rose by 16.4 per cent over June of 1964 while exports actually dropped by 7.4 per cent in the same period should not be lost on the people of a country which must compete in world markets for a living.

Into New Opportunities

THE TAHSIS COMPANY, THE provincial government and the many workers responsible are to be congratulated on the auspicious start which the community and plant at Gold River have been given. The two new entities at the head of Muchalat Inlet face a most promising future under even better conditions than many such ventures on Vancouver Island have enjoyed.

Particularly noteworthy is the early incorporation of the municipality of Gold River—whereby the new community becomes its own master from the start. The era of company towns which served their purpose under other circumstances is apparently over—as Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell put it, the "bunkhouse philosophy" is on its way out.

While marking a new step toward urbanization, the Gold River venture also reminds us of our fast-disappearing state as a frontier environment. Few parts of this continent—and certainly fewer in Europe—could duplicate this sort of development and the establishment of a wholly new community in what a short time ago was wilderness. But the surrounding wealth of the forested mountains will now become the raw material for the new industry—and there will be others.

The value of the forest licence system, which guarantees perpetuation of yield through reforestation, becomes ever more obvious. And equally clear is the importance of preserving, in parkland blocks, samples of the virgin wilderness which so soon will become merely the memories of elderly pioneers.

Pop Music Goes Pop

WHEN PARENTS REMARK that the ear-splitting racket which passes for popular music with their youngsters these days is "driving them crazy", they are speaking figuratively of course.

Several psychological researchers, however, take the protest for literal fact. Writing in a recent edition of the American Journal of Society, one researcher claims that there is an actual danger to sanity in the kind of music which leads children to writhe as though in agony, to bite their lips until they draw blood, to roll on the floor and to howl like wild beasts.

"The further the tempo, or number of beats per minute, is accelerated above the normal pulse rate of 72 per minute, the greater the emotional tension generated," he says. He adds that much of today's popular music causes urges and emotions that can add to the burdens of already-crowded mental hospitals.

Another psychologist states that without perfect balance between its mental, emotional and physical operation an organism cannot operate properly. Modern music, he says, becomes potentially dangerous when it upsets this balance of natural bodily rhythms.

There may be much in what these gentlemen say but what is not established is whether the music is cause or effect. Are the extreme reactions of some young people to the more frenetic type of popular music caused by the music, or does it simply release emotional activity brought on by other causes, social, economic, political and cultural? It is much easier, of course, to lay the blame on the music rather than to look deeply into the society which the music may only reflect.

T-o-o-o-o-o-o-t!

LOCAL BOATING ENTHUSIASTS are drawing attention to a new aspect of Rule 20 in the Revised Regulations for Preventing Collision at Sea. Until September 1 the rule read that "When a power-driven vessel and a sailing vessel are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision, except as provided for in Rules 24 and 26 (concerning overtaking and fishing), the power-driven vessel shall keep out of the way of the sailing vessel."

This led in some quarters to the interpretation that even a large freighter or a ferry would have to manoeuvre so as to give a sailing vessel the right of way under any circumstances. But the point has been cleared up in the new clause (b) which reads: "This rule shall not give to a sailing vessel the right to hamper, in a narrow channel, the safe passage of a power-driven vessel which can navigate only inside such channel."

In other words, gentlemen under sail, make way for the Queen of Nanaimo, the Queen of Saanich and other ferries when they enter Active Pass.

FROM WASHINGTON

Canada and the Hemispheric Approach to Latin America

A PROMINENT senator has used the occasion of formation of a provisional government in the Dominican Republic to suggest a hemispheric approach to future Latin American crises. Jacob Javits of New York, an influential liberal Republican, at the same time urged full Canadian participation in such an approach through Canadian members to subvert free institutions by infiltration and other forms of interference in the internal affairs of any nation in the Americas."

The resolution would ask the U.S. to seek "to improve the authority and capability of the Organization of American States to take timely action in emergencies affecting the peace and security of any nation in the Americas in accordance with the requirements of common defence . . . by standing ready to support and assist in the establishment of measures to undertake peace-keeping efforts under the auspices of the OAS . . ."

Sens. Javits and Carlson have put into words a line of thought that has been jelling in the minds of official policy makers since the Dominican crisis broke out early this spring. If it became administration policy, and through U.S. leadership the became OAS policy, it would greatly alter traditional interpretation of the doctrine of non-intervention, dear to the hearts of Latin

Americans and enshrined in the OAS charter.

But this traditional interpretation was killed when U.S. Marines landed in Santo Domingo. It was based on Latin revolution against long-abandoned U.S. gunboat diplomacy and predates the present era of subversion. To Sen. Javits, the Dominican crisis showed that "collective responsibility and collective action for the security of the hemisphere is the only alternative to unilateral U.S. action."

Collective responsibility, he said in an accompanying speech, was the answer to the two basic later-day problems of the hemisphere: "1. How can the inter-American system best deal with subversion, whether communist or ultra-rightist? 2. How can the American states counter political instability resulting from the overthrow of democratic governments by the communists or the ultra-right?"

Large-scale communist subversion is a new addition to the old problems of rapid turnover of governments and the seizure of power by dictators. Economic progress and social reform as envisaged by the Alliance for Progress are lost causes without guarantees of military security and political stability.

Sen. Javits bypasses the thorny question of whether U.S. fears of a Communist takeover in the Dominican Republic were justified. "The fact is that other situations are likely to occur in Latin America in which conclusions will be hard to draw from incomplete and contradictory evidence. The real question is how to handle these problems in the future. Rather than simply to protest the unilateral nature of the initial U.S. involvement in the Dominican Republic, it is now more constructive for the nations of this hemisphere to decide on a means to deal together with the growing problem of subversion in the Americas."

The clause of the Javits-Carlson resolution referring to Canada's proposed role reads as follows:

"The United States should encourage and support collective consultation among the members of the inter-American system and with Canada with a view to refraining from the establishment of diplomatic relations with, and denying military and economic aid to, any regime brought into power in a state by the unconstitutional overthrow of a freely elected, constitutional, democratic government ruling in accordance with its constitutional mandate, and to requiring, as a precondition to the establishment of diplomatic relations and the extension of military and economic aid, prior commitments for the restoration of free elections, and for the application of human and civil rights and liberties, within a reasonable time . . ."

Come On, Mr. Lesage Tell Us What You Think

By DOUGLAS FISHER
Former NDP MP for Port Arthur

The able journalist, Gerard Pelletier, seems to doubt the wisdom of Mr. Lesage's tour of Western Canada.

Mr. Pelletier fears that the responses of the Quebec premier to questioning newsmen will further unbalance English-French relations.

Mr. Pelletier alluded specifically to the Lesage dismissal of the authority of the Supreme Court "bordering on civil disobedience"—and his contradictory tactic of threatening legal action which would end before the supreme legal forum against any corporation exploring Quebec waters with a licence from Ottawa.

Mr. Norman Webster, a new observer of the Quebec scene who writes lucidly, is apprehensive about the unpredictable way in which Mr. Lesage may react to situations which affect him personally.

Canadians have a right to know a lot about the ideas of their political leader. Mr. Lesage is a major Canadian leader.

Questioning by newsmen is a major device of public enlightenment. Can you think of any area at this moment in which enlightenment would be more desirable than Mr. Lesage's ideas on the best relationship between his province and the rest of Canada?

One could argue reasonably that at this stage of the confederation debate a Lesage tour of Ontario-Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa—might be preferable. It is not an aspersion on westerners to say that Ontario has been closer to our central problem and has reached a degree of discernment which might allow that rapport which could elicit from the visitor some rather fundamental information.

The common elements of several discernible Quebec positions are emerging with some clearness. Thus it is not a question of what Quebec wants. But there is a fair question of what Mr. Lesage wants. Moreover, the question is not what he wants for his province as a Quebecer and French-Canadian but as a Canadian and a French-Canadian.

What role does Mr. Lesage see for the government at Ottawa? As a French-Canadian with federal experience as a minister, what does he conceive to be the limits of tolerance for the federal government and in all of English-Canada for expanded bilingualism and attendant biculturalism? What suggestion has he about Canadian purposes which could start English and French moving together in a parallel direction?

It's Made for Little Girls But Everyone Is Intrigued

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Doll's houses, as a general rule, are quite obviously the medium through which small girls play at housekeeping.

They are sturdily built, with box-like similarity, to withstand the wear and tear of children at play. They have no aura of mystery about them.

It's only occasionally that you come upon one that is different. When you do, you'll find that it not only pleases little girls, it also intrigues the imagination of grown-ups too.

Like the doll's house on the second floor balcony of the Greater Victoria Art Gallery. It was born out of a fit of curiosity. At least, that's the way its maker, the late Lt. Col. Lewis E. Broome, used to explain it.

Across the street from where he lived, in this city, stood the old wooden shell of an earlier Christ Church Cathedral.

One day he heard hammering and, on investigating, found an elderly house breaker methodically demolishing the framework of the organ, from which the pipes and keys had already disappeared.

Col. Broome's eyes caught the warm red sheen of mahogany.

"Came round the Horn 50 years ago," the old man told him. "Gimme three dollars and cart it away quick."

After a dusty hour's work, the colonel had a good supply of the wood with "never a knot in it."

"You got summat there," said the old man. Guess its 'breath'd o'er Eden' for half of Victoria. Aye, and played them into their graves, too. What yer aim to do with it?"

Col. Broome laughed and said: "How about a doll's house for the new generation? the echoes of Eden, so to speak."

He carried his loot back to his workshop and soon the framework for the doll's house began to appear.

By the time it had taken shape and was ready for doors, windows and furniture, he had moved to a small cottage on the Che-

Foreign Legion Gets a New Image

By CLARE HOLLINGWORTH

MARSEILLES—A profound change is taking place in the French Foreign Legion. After 131 years spent in fighting colonial wars, followed by three years of uncertainty, when they were faced with the possibility of liquidation, the Legion is beginning to emerge as a streamlined force, well adapted to France's military needs in the mid-sixties, while planning and training for active service in the early seventies.

The force of 35,000 men was threatened with extinction, not only because the famous First Parachute Regiment became the spearhead of the abortive anti-Gaullist general's putsch in Algiers in 1961, but because the officers and men then seemed to identify themselves with the reactionary French residents in Algiers—the Pieds-Noirs.

Today it is still possible to hear implied criticism of President de Gaulle in the officers' mess, but it comes, surprisingly enough, from the radically minded young and early middle-aged officers, who claim, for some reason, that the Legion is basically a European army, serving France; it could become the nucleus of a force to serve the whole of Europe when the Continent becomes a political entity, which, they say, it will.

Non-French Wanted
One officer was anxious that non-French officers should immediately be accepted for service with them. Indeed, had it not been for the heat and the dusty leaves of the plane trees outside the window and the vine rose of Provence on the table, the conversations might have been taking place in the Maison de l'Europe at Strasbourg, rather than at the new headquarters of the Le-

Trouble Rained On Farms

By REMY d'ANJOU

Precisely, what are his views on the Fulton-Favreau amending formula, that "La Belle Dormant"? Like Mr. Daniel Johnson, does he hold to vague but impossible fantasies of an associate state within confederation?

An Ontario tour in which these matters were taken up by reporters and where formal addresses expanded his position would be an enormous contribution to our future. It would be preferable if such a tour were followed by Mr. Pearson, with the same itinerary and dealing with the same great issue.

As it is, we are being led to believe that the most we should hope for is that Mr. Lesage, a Gallic Eisenhower, will grin his way through the West, dealing in comforting generalities about national unity, avoiding issues and reporters, and proving that he doesn't have horns and a tail.

Those of us who remember Mr. Lesage in parliament know that he has several styles, including a florid rhetorical one that is reminiscent of Paul Martin's and every bit as opaque to clear understanding. The West is appreciative enough of speaking technique to be impressed by this old-fashioned style when well pressed.

Mr. Lesage can also be very direct, even harsh, in his speech, jettisoning the grand manner for raw power. Of course, he has a temper, often a raging one, which leads him to extravagances.

He needs, indeed he owes it to us, to find some balance between the empty and well-dressed pomposity and sulphurous choleric.

There has been considerable candor on the part of a number of groups and many individuals in French Canada on the subject of the New Quebec. We can contrast this with our English waffling away from the issue of what the New Quebec should be. Now we need candor on the part of both English and French on the subject of the New Canada.

My own party, the NDP, has put its cards on the table in full view, for what it is worth. It advocates a "two-nation" variant of cooperative federalism which rejects provincial decentralization and seems to preserve a maximum of jurisdiction and initiative in Ottawa with respect to the whole of Canada, and a maximum of administrative authority with respect to nine provinces.

Moreover, it has used the same cards, in Quebec as in the rest of the country. Is it too much to expect the same frankness from all our political parties and from leaders in key positions? Could we not begin, whatever the risks of rash comment may be, with the premier of Quebec as he tours the West?

Farmers—and their wives—don't hesitate to trace their troubles to the rain-making devices, which ended their operations in August, 1964.

Resources Minister Rene Levesque, faced with the campaign against the machines last spring, promised they would not operate during the periods of seeding, hay-making and the crop-harvest of the normal 6,000.

Milk production away down from the 1964 figure.

The rain measured 20.99 inches from the beginning of May, 1964, to the end of the following September, said Mr. Cayouette, four inches more than normal.

Farmer Jacques Jean said the lack of hay this year forced him to kill 10 young cows from his thoroughbred cattle herd. The loss means ill effects that he says will be measurable only over a long period.

Bernard Bella had agreed, in secret, with the French government that he would merely protest about this action taking place on Algerian soil, and there is no reason to believe that Colonel Boumedienne will take a more drastic line.

All the water, whatever the cause, meant disaster for the 3,300 farmers scattered around Saguenay-Lake St. John, about 130 miles north of Quebec City.

Alphonse Cayouette, an agronomist with the Catholic Union of Farmers, to which the local farmers belong, spelled out the dimensions of the bitter year, 1964:

• $5,000,000 in crop losses, and ill effects that will be felt for years.

• Crops down to an average of 5.4 bushels for every acre farmed in the area, compared with a normal average of 38.4 bushels.

• Near-total destruction of hay crops as a result of the rain and the heavy winter of 1964-65, forcing farmers to plan on killing anywhere from 15,000 to 60,000 head of cattle instead of the normal 6,000.

The language controversy provoked riots in 1957 and 1958, when Mrs. Bandaranaike's husband was prime minister. He was assassinated by a Buddhist monk in 1959 and Mrs. Bandaranaike swept into office 10 months later.

For the better part of her four years in office, Mrs. Bandaranaike had to keep soldiers in the Tamil areas to quell outbursts of resentment against failure to win recognition for the Tamil language.

Senanayake says he has conceded only what Mrs. Bandaranaike's husband offered the Tamils, and what she in turn told them they could have when she wedded the Tamil federal party before gaining power in 1960.

Mrs. Bandaranaike has accused Senanayake of selling out the Sinhalese to the Tamil plantation workers who supported him in the elections last March.

Mrs. Bandaranaike and Indian Prime Minister Shastri agreed to the repatriation to southern India of 350,000 of nearly 850,000 Tamil coolies—originally indentured by the British to work Ceylon's tea and rubber plantations. Their continued presence here is represented by many Sinhalese unable to obtain work.

Senanayake says he hopes to reduce the cost of living and to provide jobs for 500,000 unemployed—one-sixth of the work force.

IMMIGRATION MAN TO GO A-CALLING NEXT WEEK

Red Tape Pursues Red-Fearing Americans

An immigration official next week will call on three U.S. couples living with their nine children on B.C.'s rugged coast.

The official will investigate the status of Lee Van Dusen, 27; his wife and three children. Unlike the others, they are not landed immigrants.

The family entered Sidney in their small boat Aug. 5.

Five days later they set sail, telling immigration officials they were heading for the U.S.

It is not yet known if the family officially entered Canada again at some other port.

The immigration official will also try to talk the two other families into moving to a more civilized area, for the harsh winter months.

Christmas Wonderland Proposed for Victoria

By JIM HUME

Times Business Editor

The hardest times of the year to find a hotel room in the Lancashire resort town of Blackpool are the first week in August and a several-week stretch in October and November.

The August tourist crowds are understandable for the air off the Irish Sea is bracing, the attractions in a dozen or more theatres first class, and the cockles, mussels and winkles delightful.

But why would millions (a record day will see as many as 1.5 million tourists pour into the town) flock to that bleak West Lancashire coast during the month of November when the weather is foul and rip-snorting gales lash 50-foot-high breakers over the main promenade?

The answer, if expensive, is simple. Blackpool offers, during those miserable off-season weeks, an attraction tourists could not see anywhere else in the world.

For 14 miles along the promenade and in close by squares the town decks itself in a thousand fairyland scenes which make even Disneyland pale.

Called simply The Illuminations, the tableaux over the years have created the greatest ever run on "no vacancy" signs,

RUNS SECOND

Up the coast a little, the town of Morecambe has tried to hornswoggle in on what was once a Blackpool special. It too fills its hotels with tourists during those off-season months though, may the town fathers forgive me, it still runs second to Blackpool.

Last Wednesday the Victoria Chamber of Commerce decided to combine two committees to take a look at the possibility of holding a Christmas festival.

They could do no worse than drop a line to the Blackpool Chamber of Commerce and ask them how. The Illuminations started and how long it has taken them to build up to their present spectacular size.

Victoria will never pack in the millions like Blackpool simply because the population in this corner of the world isn't large enough. But it could, with a little imagination, attract thousands from the Mainland cities during those grey months when occupancy-rate charts make hotel and motel owners shudder.

The ideal locale for a Festival of Lights would be Beacon Hill Park, where trees stripped of their summer finery would provide the perfect backdrop for winter scenes.

FREE SHOW

In Blackpool The Illuminations are free, and so should any similar project be here. For the wise merchants of that once slovenly Lancashire town realized many years ago that the main objective in attracting tourists is to offer them a bonus.

Get them into town is the aim, for once there they will eat, drink and need a place to sleep.

IT and T Acquires Press Wireless

NEW YORK (AP)—International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. said this week it has completed acquisition of Press Wireless Inc.

Press Wireless supplies news media in some 65 countries with teleprinter, facsimile, telephone and voice communication services.

And after they have viewed the lights they will shop, crowd theatres to get away from wild weather and generally fill what would be empty tills.

A few years ago Blackpool—the town's motto is "Progress"—instituted another idea for boosting the off-season trade. Whether hotel and boarding house owners still continue the practice or not I don't know, but the year they started offering old-age pensioners half-rates on accommodations and meals during the week prior to Christmas and through to one week after New Year, they hit the jackpot.

BARGAIN CITY

Not only did the pensioners flock to the bargain city but they persuaded their families to go along with them. Blackpool became the gathering spot for family reunions—with the under 65's paying full rates and giving hotel owners that long-needed boost over those dragging winter months.

Both ventures took courage and money. Blackpool merchants gambled that tourists would visit them even in the most wretched weather if they could make the package attractive enough.

They won that gamble—and so could Victoria if merchants, hotel and motel owners would combine their efforts for such bold moves.

Possibly the committee formed by the Chamber of Commerce is a start. I hope so, for however successful the summer season may be those long winter months just ahead will see many a neon "vacancy" sign flashing over wind-swept streets.

Gastronomers or would-be gastronomers are invited to apply for admittance as founding members of local branch of International Gourmet Club.

'Busy-car' women trust

compound power
Chevron Gasolines

In today's stop-and-go traffic, the housewife-chauffeur has good reason to trust Chevron Gasolines.

So many important little people to be delivered safely to the right place at the right time! For over a generation continual advances in the quality of Chevron Gasolines have been helping her with dependable power for smooth get-aways, with purring power that banishes stalling, with more and more miles per gallon.

Why are Chevron Gasolines superior? Housewife-chauffeurs would probably be bored if we told them about our Methyl, the biggest breakthrough in anti-knock additives since Ethyl, 36 years earlier; about the special Chevron additive to banish carburetor-icing; about the famous Chevron Detergent Action formula that keeps your carburetor as clean as the day it was installed; about the improved refining processes that assure the best possible octane values for new and older engines alike.

"Busy-car" women are only interested in what it all adds up to. It all adds up to COMPOUND POWER—and with COMPOUND POWER the miles cost you less. Drive into your nearest Standard Station or Chevron Dealer this week and try a tankful for yourself...

LIQUOR IN PLAYHOUSE TRIGGERS RESIGNATIONS

FREDERICTON (CP)—A dispute apparently triggered by the serving of liquor to an audience at the Playhouse here May 25 has resulted in the resignations of Lord Beaverbrook's widow and son as custodians of the 1,000-seat theatre.

Announcement that Lady Beaverbrook and Sir Max Aitken had severed one of their ties with the $1,000,000 Playhouse was made Wednesday by Fredericton publisher Michael Wardell.

Mr. Wardell told a meeting of Patrons of the Playhouse—a group formed to promote entertainment at the theatre, donated to the province by the late Lord Beaverbrook and the Sir James Dunn Foundation—that he had also resigned as treasurer of the group.

Mr. Wardell said Lord and Lady Beaverbrook had entrusted him with $100,000 for the running of the Playhouse on the condition that a bar license be obtained and that the theatre be exempt of seat tax. He said he told Lord Beaverbrook that Mr. Robichaud "had given assurances on both points."

Mr. Wardell said: "I bitterly blame myself that I as-over and over again that we could be sure of getting these things, that there could be no breach of faith on the part of Mr. Robichaud. I was wrong. We got neither one nor the other."

Premier Robichaud could not be reached for comment.

CRITICIZE GOVERNORS

The Playhouse governors were also criticized by Mr. Wardell for discharging the theatre's director, Alexander Gray, on six months notice. This was done in August, he said, after the governors expressed their praise for Mr. Gray.

Mr. Wardell said he negotiated a long-term employment with Mr. Gray without formal contract. The agreement, which he said was authorized by the governors, had the understanding that it would be, "in a sense, a life-long one."

In the event that either party decided to terminate the agreement, a year's notice should have been given, he said.

Castro Luring U.K. Scientists

LONDON (AP)—Cuba is getting in on the brain drain of British scientists—tempting outstanding young researchers with big money, no taxes and luxurious rent-free villas.

The aim so far has been to sign up specialists in nutrition and farm research. Premier Castro has taken a personal hand in the campaign.

The overtures apparently started last year, after John Crichton retired as head of the applied nutrition department at Aberdeen's Rowett Institute.

Within a fortnight he received a cable inviting him to Cuba and Castro asked him to set up an agricultural research centre.

Crichton made an extended visit, drew up plans for the centre and returned to Britain to recruit staff members. He said the Cuban invitation was a surprise, and a still greater surprise was that he dealt with Castro himself.

The research centre still is being built but it already has a British director—Dr. Reg Preston, a pioneer in modern beef production methods.

Others known to have signed up include Dr. Malcolm Willis, a 30-year-old geneticist who has outstanding experience in artificial insemination, and Dr. Tom Sutherland, a Bristol University biochemist.

Poor rewards for scientists in Britain—Willis earned less than $6,000 a year—add to the attraction of the Cuban offers.

Cuba is offering British scientists tax-free salaries of about $10,500 a year with all expenses paid.

Gov't Forces Wessin To Take Miami Post

SANTO DOMINGO (Reuters) There was rejoicing in some districts of Santo Domingo today in the wake of the forced departure of the military junta chief, Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, from the Dominican Republic.

President Hector Garcia-Godoy announced on television Thursday night that Wessin had been retired from command of the central school of the armed forces and appointed consul-general in Miami, Fla.

The general, rightist military strongman who overthrew President Juan Bosch in 1963, was escorted from his home to San Isidro Air Base by commanders of the U.S. and inter-American peace forces and Dominican armed forces chiefs.

Supporters claimed Wessin claimed his chief was "arrested by the United States and is being held at their headquarters."

He claimed there would be "bloodshed" because Wessin would never willingly give up

WESSIN off to Miami his position. But observers considered this unlikely.

(The Associated Press said that Wessin, 42, two days ago charged that U.S. embassy officials had tried to bribe him into leaving the country. The embassy has not denied the charge.)

ABOLISHES THE SCHOOL

Last week Garcia-Godoy decided that the military school headed by Wessin be abolished and its 1,700 men integrated into the armed forces.

Three days ago, reliable sources said Wessin told Garcia-Godoy the country was threatened by a Communist takeover and that prominent citizens had asked him to remain at his job.

Some observers in Santo Domingo felt the president paid a high price in getting rid of Wessin.

They claimed the armed forces chiefs, whom the president said will remain in office, used Wessin's precipitate departure, which they partly helped engineer, as a safeguard for their own positions.

The rebels, who still occupy the former "constitutionalist" zone of the capital and who are at present being disarmed, had fiercely attacked other armed forces leaders, including Armed Forces Secretary Francisco Rivera Caminero, and called for their dismissal.

There also was some disappointment that Wessin was to represent the Dominican Republic in Miami. Rebel sources said he would be in easy contact with Cuban exiles, to whom he owed much of his support here.

But other diplomatic observers felt the departure of Wessin, whose 1,700 troops were formerly accused by the rebels of excesses against the civilian population, left the way clear for comparative stabilization in the country.

AROUND-THE-CLOCK guard is being maintained on Lucien Rivard in the federal jail at Laredo, Texas, it was revealed Thursday by U.S. marshal M. M. Hale. Rivard, who was extradited by plane from Montreal July 22, is the central figure in a $33 million narcotics smuggling case. An attempt on his life is feared. The trial of Rivard and three other Canadians is scheduled to open Monday.

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—British Columbia officially has its fourth university today, a "miracle on a mountain" presaging bold departures in education.

It is Simon Fraser University, whose motto, "nous sommes pret" (We Are Ready) seems about right for an institution launched fully built Thursday just two years after the order for its construction.

The year-round university ignores Canadian traditions in physical planning, classroom size and scholarships. Its library is partially computerized and it has two floors of underground parking.

Among its opening crop of 1,207 students are 74 graduate students, promising that the university will grant master's degrees—and perhaps doctorates—in science, arts and education before it graduates anyone with a BA.

No Weakening Of Nationalism

Direction By Other Allies Will Not Be Tolerated: De Gaulle

By PETER BUCKLEY

PARIS (CP)—There will apparently be no weakening of current French nationalism, no "abdication" of French sovereignty, in the near future.

If anything, President de Gaulle made plain Thursday, the West can expect to have to make still more of the tough reappraisals of post-war alliances and policies which recent French foreign policy has required.

De Gaulle's statements came at his semi-annual press conference, with some 1,000 newspaper men and diplomatic personnel jammed into the ballroom of the Elysee Palace for the occasion.

In a prolonged dissertation on domestic and foreign affairs, the French president returned time and again to the theme that France will not submit unquestioningly to direction from outside in matters which affect her own interests.

ON UN AND NATO

His comment on alliances in general was typical. Speaking of those who would push France into "dissolving" itself in the United Nations or similar bodies, De Gaulle affirmed:

"I do not believe that the vast majority of the French people thinks it conforms with their ideas of France's own value, or even with simple good sense."

On specific issues, he warned that France wants a reassessment of its participation in NATO by 1969—particularly in cases where French officers are under the control of other nations.

He again dismissed—in terms that were no less pointed for having an almost old-fashioned courtliness—the idea of a united Europe within the near future in which French policy would be decided by majority votes of her Common Market partners.

He himself had long advanced the idea of a united Europe, he said, "but what we wanted and still want is a fair and reasonable community."

That meant agriculture—all important to the French economy—should be included among the items covered by the Common Market agreements.

France will not go along with those who want the member countries to submerge their na-

TWO ISSUES

Farmers Talk Terms With Que.

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP)—Some 750 farmers of the Lake St. John and Saguenay region agreed Thursday night on two conditions—to accept an offer by the Quebec government to compensate them for crop losses last year.

The farmers voted unanimously to accept payment of two-thirds of real damage incurred. They maintained, however, that the total of real damage came to their estimate of $5,000,000—not $3,000,000 as suggested by Premier Lesage.

In order to make their point, they stipulated, as one condition, that their own technicians and representatives must work with government investigators in estimating real damage.

The farmers also insisted, as their second condition, that the government must pay the two-thirds to them alone. There must be no sharing with farmers in the Abitibi region who also suffered crop losses last year. The government would have to come to a separate agreement with the Abitibi farmers.

In addition, they repeated their request for a three-year moratorium on repayment of loans from the Farm Credit Bureau. They did not, however, make this a condition in a settlement of their argument with the government over compensation.

The farmers did not set any deadline for the government to agree to the conditions.

In the meantime, the farmers determined that there will be no further road-blocking in the area, such as that last week when they drove their tractors, trucks and other vehicles at a snail's pace over the local highways. At one time, there were some 1,200 farmers on the road.

France comes first

Johnson Sets Course To Clash With France

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a clear policy clash with French President de Gaulle, President Johnson is sending a new ambassador to the NATO Council in Paris with instructions to strengthen and expand the political and nuclear roles of the Atlantic alliance.

"A strong NATO remains essential if we are to reach a solid agreement with the Soviet Union that reflects the common interests of each of the allied nations in peace and security," Johnson told departing ambassador Harlan Cleveland.

The president conferred with Cleveland Thursday. The White House made public Johnson's statement a few hours after de Gaulle had declared at a press conference in Paris that France intends to end at least by 1969 the "subordination" of French defence forces by NATO.

De Gaulle's words were read here and by Western observers in Paris as a definite statement of intention to remove France from the NATO military command. This could mean removal of NATO headquarters from Paris.

De Gaulle's words came as no surprise to U.S. officials.

Authorities here and in other Allied capitals have been conferring for several months on the possibility that de Gaulle, assuming he is re-elected in December, may pull France out of the Atlantic alliance when that becomes legally possible in 1969. The treaty was concluded in 1949 and contains a 20-year withdrawal clause.

DAVE SKRIEN

...fuse of resentment

OLD DISPUTEDave Tells All...

By AL EATON

VANCOUVER (UPI) — Head coach Dave Skrien tells the full story of why he wanted to quit the British Columbia Lions over a dispute with general manager Herb Capozzi during the club's march to the Grey Cup last season.

Details of his hassle with Capozzi are outlined in Skrien's 142-page book—Countdown to Grey Cup—which was formally introduced at a press luncheon Thursday.

It was July 20, 1964, and the Lions had just been shut out, 3-0, by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Skrien admitted a short fuse of resentment burned at his squad, but the sparks weren't directed at the Tabbies.

The Lions' coach learned second-hand that Capozzi had sold the regular season tickets reserved for the players' wives, and moved the wives "from bed seats to worse."

The book recalls: "Long after midnight, sustained by a pot of coffee, I pondered a distasteful decision. Should I bring the matter to a boil publicly? If I didn't, would the front office continue to violate areas of my responsibility?"

Skrien announced to the Vancouver Sun, he planned to quit. The story was splashed across the front page.

Next day, Capozzi and Skrien were summoned to the office of club president Slim Delbridge.

Skrien told Delbridge the story was accurate, and that if "I didn't go to bat for the players on this issue, they'd think I wouldn't stand up for anything on their behalf."

"But the moves were minor," Capozzi objected.

Delbridge replied: "We're the western champs now, Herb; some of those women are wives of veterans who stuck through the lean years. I'd be mad if I was one of them."

The club president then chided Skrien for not going through normal channels to the general manager.

"That way doesn't always work," Skrien told Delbridge, "the normal channels are too often a vacuum. I'm tired of going through normal channels to get things done that should be done almost automatically by the front office."

The dispute was resolved when the wives were given better seats, and Skrien agreed in future, to refer similar problems to the directors.

Skrien said the incident hadn't been as important to him as the principle that was violated.

"This was not the first time Capozzi had intruded in an area of my responsibility," Skrien wrote. "No coach can exist unless his players are fully aware that he is in charge of the team."

That night, at practice, Skrien recollects, the players indicated they realized he was in command. Someone tacked a picture of him on the dressing room bulletin board, showing one of Skrien's eyes blacked out. Underneath, was scribbled an advertising slogan:

"I'd rather fight than switch!"

Japanese Offer Drysdale $500,000 Long-Term Pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Drysdale, Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher, says he is mulling a rich offer to play baseball in Japan.

'King of Pitchers' Sorry for LoserHis Fast Ball, Control 'Never Better' — Koufax

(Times News Services)

Sandy Koufax has reached the supreme standard of excellence in baseball.

To Alexander, Mathewson, Feller, Johnson, Hubbell and Young, to all the pitchers who have preceded Sandy Koufax: "Move over."

Sandy Koufax has earned the title "King of Pitchers."

Even the fabulous records of those immortal greats, even their legends cannot match the pitching achievements of 29-year-old Sandy Koufax, who became the first lefthander ever to win a perfect game and the first major league pitcher in history to hurl four no-hits, more games when the Los Angeles perfectionist beat the Chicago Cubs 1-0 Thursday night.

The miracle of the flawless gem over the Cubs looms even greater because Koufax's career has been in jeopardy for the last six months since he incurred traumatic arthritis in his left elbow.

Koufax struck out 14 men including the last six batters in a row to boost his season's total to 322 — just 16 short of the major league record set by Bob Feller in 1946. With perfect control and a blazing fast ball, Koufax was hit hard only once,

The miracle of the flawless gem over the Cubs looms even greater because Koufax's career has been in jeopardy for the last six months since he incurred traumatic arthritis in his left elbow.

Koufax pitched his other no-hitters Walter O'Malley came up with an extra $500.

"I thought this was the best of all his no-hitters," said Dodger manager Walter Alston.

Koufax has always felt that his third no-hitter, the one he pitched last season at Philadelphia, was the best game of his career.

"I had the best fast ball in the last three innings that I've had all year and also the best control," said the 29-year-old left-hander after Thursday's game at Dodger Stadium, "but

Hendley Gets Sympathy—That's It

There is a baseball tradition that no one should mention such a feat in the works—and no one did until the last Cub was out.

Baseball players are superstitious. That's why Koufax had a heavy stubble of a beard—he never shaves before a game—for good luck.

Loser Hendley was downcast. In what may be the understatement of the year, he said, "that's the best any guy has pitched against me in my career. It's the first time I lost to a no-hitter."

"I can sympathize with Hendley—it's a shame to lose a game the way he did," said Koufax.

Koufax's no-hitter was the third pitched this season in the major leagues. Jim Maloney of Cincinnati hurled the other two, both face Hendley in a repeat.

Among his other major records is a world series record of 15 whiffs in one game against the Yankees on Oct. 2, 1963. The triumph was his 22nd this season against seven losses.

He is scheduled to make his next start in Chicago next Tuesday afternoon and it's likely he'll face Hendley in a repeat.

Jim Katt got late-inning help from Al Worthington for his 15th victory of the season.

Willie Smith was the hero for California, unloading a bases-loaded double that drove in three runs against the Athletics. Bobby Knoop had three hits and Ed Kirkpatrick a home run as Fred Newman cruised to his 12th victory.

Series Starts Oct. 6

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball commissioner Ford Frick has announced that — barring playoffs — the world series would start Wednesday, Oct. 6, with the first two games in the American League champion's park. Playoffs in the two leagues vary according to the number of teams involved in the pennant deadlock.

After an open day for travel, the best-of-seven series will resume in the National League park for games No. 3, 4 and if necessary, 5. Further action, if necessary, will be at the American League park.

Defending champions Bill Quillian and Jack Lowe of Portland will be on hand. But stiff competition is expected from Bob Puddicombe and Bob Bardsley of Vancouver, Tom Gorman and Steve Hopps, Seattle, and Claude Hockley and Bill Rose, Portland.

Racquet Club will be represented by Ted Smythe, Ray Alder, Roger Skillings, Rod Harvey, Gordon Hartley and Peter Birkett.

Former city champion Ron Mitchell is coming from Naimo.

Oak Bay representatives will be Ivor Goodinson, Martin Taylor, Vince Clarkson, Howie Tooby, Larry Wood and Jake Sotkow.

Play starts at 11 a.m. each day with the finals on Sunday afternoon.

Minnesota Twins appear past the final hurdle as they head for their first American League pennant since the club was moved to the midwest.

The Twins have a seven-game edge over second-place Chicago today following a two-game sweep of the White Sox. Each club has 19 games remaining and any combination of 13 Minnesota victories or Chicago defeats, delivers the flag to the Twins.

Third-place Baltimore Orioles, 7½ games back, actually is better off statistically than the White Sox. The Orioles have 22 games left and Minnesota needs any combination of 14 victories and Oriole defeats to end Baltimore's chances.

And not only do the Twins have that fat lead, but 14 of their remaining games are against the American League's second division.

HALL THE HERO

Jimmie Hall, who homered in each game, was the hero of the sweep against the White Sox. The Twins squeaked by Wednesday night, 3-2, and then whacked four Chicago pitchers for the eighth since 1900 to notch a perfect game.

In the only other American League game Thursday, California Angels defeated Kansas City Athletics 7-2.

Hall whacked three hits including his 20th homer for the Twins, who sprayed 15 hits around Comiskey Park. Sandy Valdespino also had three safeties for the Twins.

Jim Katt got late-inning help from Al Worthington for his 15th victory of the season.

Willie Smith was the hero for California, unloading a bases-loaded double that drove in three runs against the Athletics.

Bobby Knoop had three hits and Ed Kirkpatrick a home run as Fred Newman cruised to his 12th victory.

Series Starts Oct. 6

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball commissioner Ford Frick has announced that — barring playoffs — the world series would start Wednesday, Oct. 6, with the first two games in the American League champion's park. Playoffs in the two leagues vary according to the number of teams involved in the pennant deadlock.

The kindergarten situation arose when Leafs obtained French-Canadian rightwing Mike Labadie from Springfield. Labadie has no qualms about playing in Victoria, but he does insist that his five-year-old son enroll in a French kindergarten class.

So far, Houle hasn't found one.

Sale of pre-season series will resume in the National League park for games No. 3, 4 and if necessary, 5. Further action, if necessary, will be at the American League park.

In case of any playoffs, there will be a day off afterward before the series starts.

Games will start at 1 p.m. local time, except in San Francisco, where the starting time will be noon.

Ticket prices are to be the same as last year — $12 for box seats, $8 for reserved seats, $6 for pavilion seats, $4 for standing room and $2 for bleachers.

Minnesota's front-running Twins and the second-place Chicago White Sox of the American League, and National League's San Francisco, Los Angeles, Cincinnati and Milwaukee — were given permission to have series tickets printed.

Former city champion Ron Mitchell is coming from Naimo.

Oak Bay representatives will be Ivor Goodinson, Martin Taylor, Vince Clarkson, Howie Tooby, Larry Wood and Jake Sotkow.

Play starts at 11 a.m. each day with the finals on Sunday afternoon.

Logging Firms Close Road Gates to Hunters

Vancouver Island's deer hunting season opens Saturday, but hunters may not be allowed into many of their favorite spots.

Sooke area logging companies planned to close their gates at 12 noon Saturday and Sunday, instead of the originally planned 3 p.m. because of a mounting fire hazard, which might force complete closure by the weekend.

Logging companies in Gordon River, Mead Creek, Robertson River, Shawigan, Nitinat, Ladysmith, Nainaimo Lakes, Copper Canyon, and Cayuse areas were planning to keep their gates locked because of the fire hazard, but were scheduled to take another look today. No relief is in sight.

Blacker the Fish—Better the Day for Fishing

FISHING REPORT

Teen-Ager Lands 38-Pound Tyee With Trout Gear

By HAL MALONE

Expert anglers insist that catching fish is more skill than luck.

John Smith might not second the motion. Nor might Geoffrey Corbett.

Last weekend Smith, a vacationer from Detroit, staying at Painters' Lodge, Campbell River, decided to try his luck—luck, skill.

Smith invited Geoffrey, 15, son of lodge owners Joan and Corky Corbett, to go along.

An avid angler who would be even more avid if school and grounds work didn't jam his schedule, Geoffrey jumped in the boat. No matter that he didn't have gear with him. Just being along was enough.

"Here," John Smith said, handing over a 4 oz. fly rod, Hardy fly reel and 20-lb. test line with a Polar Shrimp fly—but no weight. "Have a shot at them."

Northern Coho Put In Appearance

Only Thursday a 51½ pounder was brought in there, larger than the still acceptable 40-pounders landed earlier in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Schmitz of Bellevue, Wash., started their six-day holiday with a 40-pounder each and added two more later. Tyees also succumbed to the skill and/or luck of F. A. Nivens, T. S. Whittley and J. K. Kyle.

Campbell River also yielded coho in the 13-15-pound class and many limit catches were recorded.

Reports of coho came in loud and clear from Sooke to Cowichan Bay to Northwest Bay.

Clayton's reports as "quite fair" a run of Northern coho unseen since 1963, most in the 10-12-pound range and some over 14 pounds.

Trolling and mooching, but not bucktailing, has been profitable at Cowichan Bay, Tent Island and Maple Bay. Some trout have been chasing flies at Skutz Falls and for the small size Izala Waltons, Mayo Lake near Skutz Falls is worthy of consideration using nothing more than a worm and float.

Sooke is described as "very good" for coho and pinks.

HAMILTON (CP)—Ed Hoerster, linebacker with Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Football Conference, has been traded to Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Conference in return for rights to Bill Burrell, who retired this year.

John Atanian, a native of St. Catharines, was picked up by the Tiger-Cats from Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Touching off the Hoerster trade and acquisition of Atanian was the news that Chuck Walton, first-string Ticat offensive guard, had received his U.S. draft notice.

SALMONBELLIES PICK UP DILLON

'Know the Mistakes'

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—With a "salt and pepper" line and three brother-acts aboard, Western Canada's junior lacrosse champions are bound for the 1965 Minto Cup working to correct them all season," Jackson said before the team left Thursday.

"We've got the speed to keep up with them this year and we've got a defence that can stop them."

Jackson said one of his mistakes last year was to go with his regular team, but this year he goes into the best-of-seven national final after tapping other teams in B.C.'s Inter-City Junior League.

This time he has along league scoring champion Ranjit Dillon of Victoria, Dennis Nagy of Burnaby and Bob Salt of Vancouver.

Salt will play on a line with Ron Pepper.

The brother teams are Bob and Wayne Goss, John and Paul Shmyr and Terry and Barry Bolton.

Salmonbellies won 22 of their 24 league games and lost once in six playoff games.

FUTURE ARCHITECTS enrolled in first and second year studies at University of B.C. are here for 10 days to sketch old buildings of Victoria as part of their training. About 70 students under direction of professors Lionel Thomas, Robin Clarke and Hadi Pendar started Thursday with row of early homes on Amelia Street (above) with Kari Mahlbut foreground. They switched this morning to Bastion Square. "An architect is close to the artist and must become facile in drawing, painting techniques, the use of space and color," Prof. Thomas said. Students hope to have public exhibition of their work before departure Sept. 17, if an appropriate place can be found. Meanwhile, they will hold their first group critique tonight with two days' work pinned up on walls of a Chinese restaurant. Last year's classes went to the Kootenays. (Times photo.)

Students wishing assistance from the University of Victoria tuition assistance bursary fund must submit their applications before Oct. 8.

Registrar Ronald Jeffels said Thursday that each application will be studied on its own merits but that students from families with an annual income of $8,000 or more will not receive first preference and should not normally expect assistance.

Eighty Toastmasters and their wives will visit Victoria Saturday on a one-day Goodwill visit.

Travelling from Washington and Oregon, the visitors will be addressed at luncheon by Ald. Millard Mooney. Educational workshops and discussions will follow.

Marjorie F. Riley, 72 Sims, was remanded to Sept. 16 for a pre-sentence report when she appeared in Saanich court Thursday and pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Court was told she was charged following an accident on the Town and Country parkway at 12:25 a.m. Aug. 19. She told police she drank two glasses of champagne.

A former Victoria man now living in Williams Lake, David Holden, has won the Oak Bay Optimist Club car draw.

The winners' name was drawn Thursday by Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox at Mayfair Shopping Centre.

Proceeds from the draw are earmarked for club charities.

Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes will attend a dinner at the Empress Hotel Tuesday in honor of federal Mines Minister J. Watson MacNaught and Provincial Mines Minister Donald Brothers.

The dinner is being held in connection with the Provincial Mines Ministers Conference.

On Saturday, Sept. 18, the lieutenant-governor will attend the annual Battle of Britain dinner given by the Air Force Officers' Association of Vancouver Island in the Pacific Club.

Half-heartedly he obeyed a suggestion from his doctor that he should investigate the possibility of hobbies—and why not wood-carving?

Alfred had never looked twice at a wood-carving. He was a warmer and a wood-worker of axe-and-saw capacities.

At last weekend's Saanichton Fair, Alfred's work took first prize of the Indian Art Exhibit. His entry was an 18-inch red cedar war canoe complete with paddle-wielding warriors.

Alfred has donated the canoe to his most ardent fan, Sister Mary Grace.

It. No one in his family or in his tribe—the Tsartlip was a carver.

Pressed on by Sister Mary Grace, the monthly house visitor of St. Joseph's, he obtained a block of cedar wood and a few tools.

Elegant Fur Adds Special Magic To Fall Fashion Show Thursday

Fur is the "look" for fall—long silky fur, short curly fur, light-toned and dark fur.

All added their own special magic to the wonderful world of fall fashions shown Thursday evening when the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Second Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, held a fashion show in the Work Point Barracks' gymnasium.

Suits will be prevalent again this fall—with a slight difference in some.

To illustrate, one model wore a black boucle suit with the jacket skimming the lower thigh. The not-too-slim skirt was styled for easy movement. Accent was four buttons placed just above the waistline in a simple, uncluttered look.

"Uncluttered" is another word for fall fashions. Dresses are simple in design—shown by a model in a warm jade green dress, styled with a fitted bodice with three-quarter-length sleeves and a stitched pleated skirt to allow for flowing movement.

A comfortable topper for those "it's cloudy—looks like rain" days was a straight-line raincoat of waterproof synthetic material, belted and styled with a collar which suddenly turns into a hood with wide, wide sleeves at the first hint of rain!

The same protection can be had for those dresser occasions—an evening at the theatre or a not-to-formal cocktail party. This was in wonderful, water and crease-resistant velvet, with slightly full base extending from the shoulders and wide, wide cuffed sleeves.

BLACK AND WHITE

A coat which would be equally at home before and after five is of black and white check wool worsted—slimming and banded with the couturier touch of fur at collar at cuffs. The model removed it to reveal a slim empire-line dress with similar check skirt and black scoop neck bodice. A perky black bow at the waistline is an eye-catcher.

Hard to fit because you wear a half-size? One model had the answer—a compact coat of the textured look—boucle, worsted, tweed. These are available in styles with or without fur accents.

Underneath, was a suit of all the fall colors—rusts, golds, oranges and reds—separated with a thread of black running through. This two-piece suit features a slim and slimming skirt, topped with a waist-skimming jacket featuring a Chelsey neckline.

After five ensembles for fall, are strictly feminine—soft flowing lines and soft fabric.

Entertaining at home? For those occasions was illustrated a sleek black hostess ensemble of long, slim black skirt, splashed with large embroidered gold designs, and fitted black overblouse with scoop neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves.

Or for more formal occasions, was a floor-length gown of black and white printed brocade, with slightly full skirt and bodice of coal black. Accent is a wide black cummerbund, featuring a bow in tone with the ties flowing down the side of the skirt. The style of the bodice is demure, yet still very sophisticated.

The model topped the entire ensemble with an evening coat of brocaded black, designed without buttons in a straight line to the knees.

Young-at-heart women could could the look of youth and freshness without any loss of elegance as shown in a bell-skirted gown of soft blue peau de soie. The neckline of the slightly raised bodice is not too low in front but plunges to almost nothing in the back.

Just the tip of an evening shoe shows through a V-ed slit in the front of the floor-length skirt.

Millinery was not forgotten as models walked the runway in ensembles complemented with hats of velours, velvet, feathers and fur. The "piece de resistance" in the chapeau line was a wide-brimmed model which clung to the crown at the top and swept back to large wings at the side, then met at the crown at the back. Different yes! Attractive—very!

The "Mary Poppins" and breton sailor hats are still here in a variety of styles. Umbrellas and other accessories follow suit—like one umbrella which was frilled at the neck and at the top.

All fashions in the show were presented by Miss Frith's Ladies' Wear with furs—from soft, sleek mink to woolly Persian lamb—by Wilkes Furriers.

Convening the affair was Mrs. H. W. Johnson. Models were Mrs. L. Barnhart, Mrs. C. Brewer, Mrs. J. W. Primeau, Mrs. J. D. White, Mrs. W. MacKay and Mrs. C. A. Bates. Serviteurs for the dessert party which followed the shower were members of the auxiliary.

Proceeds for the event, which amounted to $150, will go towards buying new instruments for the auxiliary's sea cadet corps.

ATKINSON-BLASZCZYK VOWS

Sacred Heart Church was decorated with white and yellow gardenias when Fr. John Planeta heard marriage vows exchanged recently, between his niece, Christine Marie Esther Blaszczuk and William James Atkinson.

"Ave Maria" and "On This Day" were sung by Mrs. C. Piechnik and Mrs. S. Dabrowski during the ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Blaszczuk, 1054 Pembroke Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean V. Atkinson, 3492 Henderson Road. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Embossed French lace applique highlighted the fitted bodice and slim skirt of the floor-length Ligada gown worn by the bride. The bodice was styled with a portiere neckline and elbow-length sleeves. A full detachable train extended from a bridal bow at the back waist. Wojciech of Vancouver travelled to Victoria for the wedding.

Following a honeymoon trip to Winnipeg and Banff, the newlyweds will make their home in Port Alberni.

For travelling, the bride chose an American Beauty rose-toned suit of wool, accented with a feather hat in tone and beige accessories.

Multi-State Murder Spree Ends Weekly

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UPI)—A bespectacled ex-convict and a 16-year-old preacher's daughter were held today as suspects in a four-killing, multi-state crime spree that began when they went to buy ice cream.

Arrested Thursday by Coconino County sheriff's deputies were Donald Melvin Boggs, 23, and his sweetheart, Dixie Lee Radcliff, both of whom lived near Chillicothe, Ohio.

Boggs, who waived a preliminary hearing, was to be arraigned today before Superior Judge Lawrence T. Wren. A decision was pending on whether to treat the girl as a juvenile or adult.

"I don't know, I just don't know why I did it," Boggs was quoted as saying when questioned by deputies about the robbery-killings of four men in Texas, Utah and Arizona.

HAD ONLY $28

When Boggs surrendered weekly to deputies, he had only $28. They said he told them a double killing near Ash Fork, Ariz., had netted a mere $29.

Investigators, who took the girl into custody in a stolen car shortly after Boggs fled it on foot to seek shelter in a store, said the suspects had planned to split up.

The pair assertedly were trying to sell articles taken from their victims to raise bus fare. Detectives said the couple planned to separate and hoped to meet later in Alaska.

Their capture ended one of the most intensive searches in the history of the southwest. The case was compared with the 1958 reign of terror in Nebraska by boastful Charles Starkweather.

VICTIMS

The alleged victims of the couple were:

H. N. Flory, 50, a San Antonio, Tex., painter, killed near Luling, Tex. His pickup truck was found near Sayre, Okla., on Labor Day.

Robert Willis, 23, and Halvor Johnson, 28, both of Newport, N.H., whose bodies were found Monday near Ash Fork, about 80 miles east of here.

Warren George Lenker, a Brigham Young University student, found dead 31 miles north of Cedar City, Utah. Miss Radcliff was in Lenker's car when she was arrested.

Authorities were tipped to the suspects' whereabouts by service station attendant John Harvey, from whom they bought gasoline with Willis' credit card. Harvey recognized the name of Willis as that of the Ash Fork victim.

NOT ARMED

Sheriff Cecil Richardson said Boggs was not armed nor did he offer resistance. He added that Boggs admitted the four slayings. Authorities said Boggs previously had served a one-year sentence in prison at Huntsville, Tex., for theft.

Miss Radcliff, dressed in capris and a blouse, did not try to use a 22-calibre weapon found at her feet in the car, Richardson said.

THREE DETROIT GIRLS, known as the Supremes, have become a million-dollar enterprise in the space of a year through combination of glamor and a new rock 'n' roll sound. They

PRIMETTES TO SUPREMES AND A MILLION DOLLARS

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Take three Detroit girls, give them a new glamor 'n' roll sound, and what do you get? In the case of the Supremes, a $1,000,000 enterprise.

Within the brief space of a year, Diane Ross, Florence Ballard and Mary Wilson have been converted into world travellers earning fortunes with their songs. They were in Hollywood on one of their breakneck tours, picking up more loot with appearances on the Red Skelton and Dean Martin television shows.

Diane appears to be the spokesman for the group. She is 21, as is Mary. Florence is 22.

"We started singing together seven years ago, when we were 14 and 15," said Diane. "We sang at dances and shows."

"In those days we called ourselves the Primettes. But when we started recording last year we needed a better-sounding name, so we picked the Supremes from a list that the secretary at the record company had compiled. It sounded pretty good."

Their first record, "Where Did Love Go," sounded more than good to the teen-agers who buy most of today's single records. Some 1,500,000 copies went over the counters in the United States, another 500,000 in England.

The Supremes seem unable to produce anything but hits, having followed with such solid sellers as "Baby Love," "Come See About Me," "Stop in the Name of Love," "Back in My Arms again," "Nothing But Heartaches and Mother Dear."

These instant classics are whipped up for them by three Detroit boys who write for Motown Records. The Supremes' style now is termed the Motown Sound, which has to be heard to be understood.

"I can't describe it," Diane admitted, "and I don't think anybody has been able to. It's just there."

The lives of the three girls have changed immensely in the last year, mostly for the better.

Sqn. Ldr. Denis Williamson outlined the defence department's plans at a meeting of the Canadian Centenary Council here Thursday.

The development of the army, navy and air force will be depicted in pageant and shown in 40 communities in road-show form.

Two trains, each carrying 350 troops, will take the two similar pageants to Vancouver where a combined show involving about 1,000 men will be presented.

After a similar show in Victoria, it will be performed again in Ottawa, at the Montreal world's fair and elsewhere in Eastern Canada.

It will use color, humor, music, action, light and sound to depict highlights of the development of the forces including the War of 1812, the Boer War, the First World War and Canada's peacekeeping activities for the United Nations.

ANNOUNCE CANOE PRIZES

Major A. J. Charbonneau, sports co-ordinator for the centennial commission, said the cross-country voyageur canoe pageant, a race from the Rocky Mountains to Montreal, will provide prizes totalling $150,000.

The 12 competing crews, one from each province and territory, must row 3,500 miles in 100 days. Each of six paddlers in the winning canoe will receive $2,500.

Second-place finishers will get $2,000, third $1,500 and fourth $1,000.

Prizes from 26 major communities the canoes will pass through are also expected.

Fair Day Was Her Day

Six-year-old Barbara Leon, daughter of Mrs. Alphonse Leon, 1542 Hampshire, was winner of two first prizes and the aggregate trophy in the Under Seven Years Class at the Saanichton Fair last weekend.

Barbara, a grade one pupil at Willows School this fall, has had only five and a half months training in highland dancing.

Bishop Cleared Of Heresy Count

EAST GLACIER, Mont. (AP) — Bishops of the Episcopal (Anglican) Church have rejected heresy charges against Bishop James A. Pike of California.

In a side issue the Episcopal leaders refused Thursday to allow Bishop Pike to ordain a woman deacon. The bishop withdrew his plans for the ordination, which would have been the first in the 3,500,000-member church.

A special committee spent nearly three days reviewing the heresy case against Bishop Pike. But the committee's negative report and the bishop's answer took only 7½ minutes as the annual house of bishops drew to a close.

Fourteen Arizona clergymen brought eight issues against Bishop Pike. The only one sustained by the conference was the decision to refuse his proposed ordination of a woman deacon.

Bishop Pike apologized and promised he would not allow Deaconess Phyllis Edwards of San Francisco to serve holy communion.

The Arizona clergymen charged Pike had repudiated the virgin birth, that he denied the doctrine of the Holy Trinity and that his own cathedral was failing to observe one of the church festivals, the Feast of the Annunciation.

The bishops adopted a resolution which specifically bans women from serving communion. The house of bishops recommended that, for the present, only women prepared to serve full time be ordained as deaconesses. They further stated that the duties of a deaconess do not correspond with those of a deacon.

The Episcopal church has three levels of ministry for men — bishops, priests and deacons. For women the only order is deaconess.

SANTIAGO (AP) — Preliminary approval by the Chilean senate Thursday virtually assured passage of a bill empowering President Eduardo Frei to nationalize partially more than $1,000,000,000 worth of U.S. copper holdings.

Industrial Accidents Kill 268

Industrial accidents killed 268 persons across the country in the first quarter of this year.

This compared with 286 fatalities in the first quarter of last year, reports the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Ontario had most fatal accidents — 76. There were 70 in B.C. and 38 in Alberta.

Hardest-hit age group was between 25 and 44, where 137 persons died.

Sixty-five per cent of the fatalities occurred in three occupations — transport and communications; miners and quarrymen; and craftsmen, production process and related workers.

The greatest number of fatalities — 61 — occurred in mines and oil wells.

Thirty per cent of those killed were struck by various objects including falling trees, landslides, moving vehicles, tools, machinery and cranes.

EXHIBITION OF THE WORK of Canadian artist David Partridge was opened recently at the Commonwealth Institute in London. David, seen at work, is well known for his nail configurations. One of his most important commissions was the nail-celling in the Royal Roof restaurant in London's new Royal Garden Hotel.

Lady Vampire Gets Car to Match Role

By CINTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Yvonne De Carlo, the lady vampire with such a loving wife to Herman of CBS' The Munsters, recently took delivery of a new sedan — gleaming black, low slung, discreetly expensive-looking.

Before the Vancouver-born actress put the key in the ignition, however, it was whipped over to a custom body-maker, who promptly added silver rails in a coffin-handle motif around the roof, installed a bat insignia on the front, substituted hub-caps that look like spider webs, and painted a blood-red line around the body.

Miss De Carlo, who was a beautiful motion picture star long before she donned her Lily wig of long black hair and went in for makeup that looks moron's mauve in one light and arsenic green in another, plans to use the vehicle as her personal, private means of transportation.

"I think it will be fun," she said. "In the old days, motion picture stars acted like stars. They dressed in attention-getting costumes. When people saw them, the public knew it was looking at a movie star. I think that what this television business needs is a little more of that — the ladies with the ocelots on the gold chains."

But Miss De Carlo is being practical.

"There's not a thing going on that car that can't be removed the minute I get bored with it," she confided.

There's not a thing going on that car that can't be removed the minute I get bored with it," she confided.

Quits Red Party

LONDON (AP) — Roy Sanderson, 34, resigned Thursday from the executive board of Britain's Communist Party and from the party, complaining that the world movement is not keeping up with the times. Sanderson, the youngest member of the board, had served since 1961.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Now it can be told dept.: A Life magazine article this week has reported the firing of James Aubrey as president of CBS-TV last spring was the result in part of his acceptance of favors from two package producers of CBS shows.

The report said Aubrey's fall could be attributed to a number of factors, but probably the decisive one was his sponsorship of an old friend, Keefe Brasselle, and three of Brasselle's shows. It said Aubrey bought the shows without even seeing the pilots.

The article quoted a producer who was once close to Aubrey as saying: "Brasselle represents Jim's ultimate contempt for the industry, the consummate thumbing of his nose. He was saying 'I can take a broken down song-and-dance man and make it anyway'."

The quality of the Brasselle shows, described as disasters, added to the disenchantment felt by Dr. Frank Stanton, president of CBS, and William S. Paley, board chairman, concerning Aubrey's taste in popular shows and his seeming indifference to the public service aspects of television.

The Federal Communications Commission later called for an investigation of rumored conflicts of interest, and CBS hired an outside law firm to look into Aubrey's relationships in the industry.

Life said CBS officials learned that Aubrey was living in a $60-a-month apartment rented by Marty Ranshoff, a producer of network television shows.

The magazine said CBS also learned that Aubrey used a car and chauffeur paid for and maintained by Brasselle's Richelle Productions even though he had an official CBS limousine at his disposal. The story quoted Brasselle as saying Aubrey didn't always want CBS to know what he was doing."

The end of Aubrey's CBS regime followed his participation in a wild party in Miami to which police were summoned but no arrests made.

High-Pressure Techniques Denied By Ford

Evangelist Leighion Ford denied at a press conference that his crusades are a form of high-pressure religion.

"Many people say that," he said, "but the truth is we don't believe in pressure of any kind. We believe in organization on modern lines and that means using all available media, including TV and radio, to spread our message."

"Christ himself was a great organizer and one of the marks of being like Him ought to be maximum efficiency. We should be better organizers, better students, better housewives, better businessmen."

Dr. Ford, whose crusade attracted 1,800 to Memorial Arena Wednesday night, and a similar number on Thursday night, admitted that many people come to his meetings out of curiosity.

"If that is the result of advertising, we welcome it. Most of Christ's followers came to Him out of curiosity. Curiosity, and even skepticism, are often the beginnings of a firm faith."

were closed and all youngsters, both white and Negro, were left outside. The Negro students had been bussed by parents from the Roxbury section as a protest against crowded conditions in some schools in Negro neighborhoods. (AP Wirephoto.)

'UN-LIBERAL' TO CALL ELECTION, SAYS GRIT

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—James E. Brown, Liberal member of Parliament for Brantford, says it was un-Liberal of Prime Minister Pearson to call an election before redistribution.

In a statement issued today, Mr. Brown said:

"In my view it was un-Liberal to call an election at this time in the midst of progress and under the most antiquated electoral boundaries ever known within Canadian memory. Representation by population had to be fought through more than 100 years. It was the Liberals who did the fighting then. Where are they now?"

Mr. Brown, first elected to the Commons in 1953, said he will seek re-election Nov. 8 as a Liberal "but I will not fight to be a rubber stamp yes-man for any government."

Soviets Won't Match

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia has turned down an invitation to send an observer to the launching of the two-man space-craft Gemini 6 from Cape Kennedy, Fla., next month, the White House announced Wednesday.

He entered the provincial civil service in 1934 and served in the key post of secretary to the B.C. Economic Council until 1947. He also set up the bureau of economics and statistics in 1938, and served as its first director.

His provincial service included posts as consultant to the B.C. postwar regional council and he was the economic adviser to the federal-provincial conference that negotiated the 1947 tax rental agreement.

That same year he became assistant director of the international economics relations division of the federal finance department in Ottawa, later serving on the International Monetary Fund, the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and as financial counsellor to the Canadian embassy in Washington.

In 1954 he went to Ethiopia to become the chief economic advisor to its finance minister and subsequently he was appointed governor of the Ethiopian State Bank.

In 1956 he returned to the International Bank as an assistant director in charge of South Asia and Middle East operations, and later took over its operations in the Western Hemisphere.

Dr. Perry came back to B.C. in 1960 to become the BC dean of commerce and in 1963 he was named vice-president of the university.

I am sorry that a class for branches of shrubs with fall color or berries has not been included, for this type of planting in the home garden needs to be encouraged.

The only shrub specified is "an arrangement of heathers" and this should prove interesting since many varieties of these easily grown little shrubs now are blooming.

In most years, the fruit section of the Gordon Head group is well filled, and if we may judge from the selection appearing at other local shows, this year should not be an exception.

Newcomers and new gardeners should not hesitate to attend this show for apart from meeting the neighbors they can make notes of kinds and varieties of both flowers and vegetables which are prize winners right in their own community.

Admission is 25 cents, with children free. The Community Hall is on Tyndall Avenue, near San Pedro Avenue.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

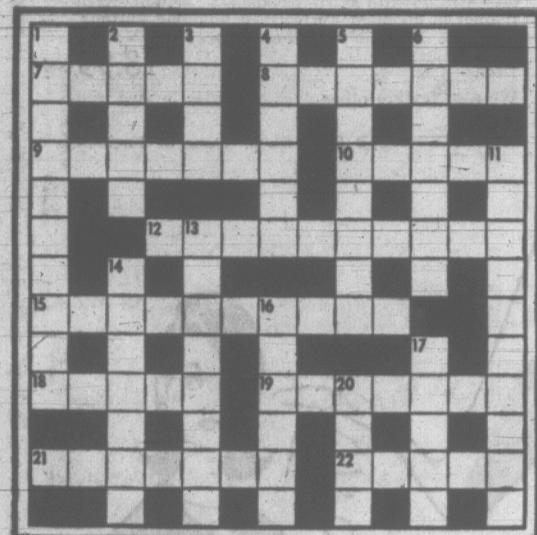

NEW YORK — James Petrillo, formerly the big music union czar, ought to be checked out for future headliners. Academy Award winner Maximilian Schell is reading 14 scripts from Broadway producers. He's in a mood to make his U.S. stage debut. . . . No fewer than 82 magazines all over the world are doing stories on Julie Christie, the actress who makes such an impact in "Darling."

The government is getting ready to warn the world of a vast food famine in the 1970s. Because of the population explosion, most countries will be affected, but the diplomats will emphasize that Uncle Sam will employ revolutionary methods intended to keep half the world from starving. A very popular but "sheltered" young actress just lived through a script wilder than any her producers would dare hand her. She slipped over a photographer (much older, of course, and divorced), decided to break loose from mom and dad, and actually managed a few rendezvous with her love by climbing through her bedroom window after "the folks" were asleep. But they've found out about it; she's practically in front, and the photographer is no longer taking her picture.

SOLUTION MONDAY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. All you have to do is to submit the questions he selects to answer and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond 441a or Globe.

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Linda Saimie, age 13, of Williams, Ariz., for her question:

How did the St. Bernard dog get his name?

Everyone knows his breed, even those who have never seen him. He is one of the biggest and heaviest of all dogs. The St. Bernard is famed in pictures and portraits. He is famous also for his sterling character and for his heroic rescue missions in the snow-bound Alps.

The St. Bernard dog is named for a rugged person who gave his name to a rugged place. The story is centred in Europe, high in the lofty Alps where a 50-mile pass cuts between the mountain peaks. The wind-torn pass is 8,000 feet above sea level and meanders its hazardous way between Switzerland and Italy. Daring travelers ventured through this Alpine skyway in ancient times. When Julius Caesar ordered his men to cross through it, the pass was a mere bridle path where mounted soldiers had to walk and lead their horses.

But, as time went on, traffic between the neighboring countries increased. Many travelers were caught and perished in the sudden storms that lashed down from the lofty peaks. Many were lost in avalanches and winter snows. The useful pass became known as a disaster area. Such areas cry out for help. Its call was answered by St. Bernard of Menthon and a band of Augustine monks. Early in the 11th century, St. Bernard founded and built a hospice, a refuge for travelers, at the highest point in the treacherous pass.

The Alpine skyway became known as the St. Bernard Pass from the hospice that still stands there. For centuries the dedicated monks have given shelter and guidance to travelers and sought those lost in the sudden snows. For centuries they have used their trusty St. Bernard dogs to help them on their life-saving missions.

such a picture. But the notion is untrue, for the noble dog carries no flask of any kind on his rescue missions.

In winter, the lofty monastery is isolated by snows. But the rescue work goes on, and nowadays the big St. Bernard dogs are often assisted by German shepherds. In summer, Alpine visitors flock to the famous hospice. They love to photograph the big dogs and their chubby pups as they bask on the flagstones of the sunny courtyard.

Has Strong Sense of Smell

The huge, intelligent dogs have keen noses that can detect a person even when he is buried two feet under the snow. Then they lift their huge heads, and the mountains echo with their bellowing barks for assistance.

We often see the St. Bernard dog pictured with a small flask around his neck, presumably filled with brandy to revive some snow-bound victim. This idea started when the English artist Edwin Landseer painted Doubleday took a full-page ad showing "Modesty Blaise" as a blonde. Then when some hipster discovered that Monica Vitti, who stars in the film, is a blonde, they changed all the advertisements. You well may wonder at modern-day electronics. The Kim Sisters recorded the lyrics to their latest effort, "Ticky Ticky Tock," in New York before they shovelled off on a European tour. The music was added in Nashville, and presumably none of their fans will ever know the difference.

Bob Aldrich is having another plane built exactly like the one in which Paul Mantz was killed, because it's necessary to pick up scenes Mantz didn't get for "Flight of the Phoenix." The new plane, which will be flown by another stunt pilot, is costing $75,000. No word on how much pilots cost.

A new book coming out is called "How Old Cary Grant? Old Cary Grant Fine, How You?" Doesn't sound like a Pulitzer Prize candidate, but it figures to be quite a bit jazzier than the volume James Cagney is writing about soil conservation.

Monique Van Vorren hopes to be the first of the glamor brigade to visit Viet Nam—her target date is October. She's having her evening dresses made in Rome, one of them reportedly flesh colored beads on flesh colored satin, and if that doesn't win the war, what will? . . . James Lee Herlihy's controversial new novel, "Midnight Cowboy," wound up with such rave reviews that the author is being besieged with offers for the film rights. One prominent director wants it so badly for his own production company he's willing to break his vow and make another picture in New York. He once said he never would, because of headaches from the unions and City Hall, but "Midnight Cowboy" must be done in Gotham.

Van McCoy, the 21-year-old success who's written dozens of hits for Nancy Wilson, Chad and Jeremy, Barbara Lewis and a host of favorites, finally wrote one for himself and Columbia executives think it will make him a new Nat King Cole. It's titled "Butterfly"—due soon.

Those chic memos on all the Park Ave. flower-pot islands are a bit much. "Water Used Here Is Brought In From Private Wells Outside of New York City," they read.

An all-time high of cruises from east coast ports has been scheduled—more than 400 during the fall and winter. There's now a wig store on Broadway near 42nd that offers "the Harlow look"—only it's for fellows.

Part-Time Study Is Big Business

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—If past performance is repeated in the coming few months—and the government hopes it will be—one out of every 10 adult Canadians will be going back to school.

School, in this case, will be part-time study at adult classes in a wide variety of subjects, sponsored by the federal government, provincial and municipal education authorities, universities and colleges, public libraries, and private business and trade schools conducting adult education programs.

MORE THAN 1,000,000

Total enrollment was 1,077,185 out of the 10,000,000 of that year's 20-and-over adult population of Canada. In addition, about 4,000,000 Canadians attended public lectures, film showings and similar events which can be broadly classified in the field of adult education. There were 50,000 such events.

The subjects will range from highly technical fields in science, engineering and the humanities, to plumbing and pipefitting.

ALL WALKS OF LIFE

The students will range from youthful drop-outs from regular schooling who find further education is necessary in today's competitive world, to retired ladies and gentlemen of independent means who simply want to study new fields and ideas to keep from growing old.

It all adds up to big business, and more.

The bureau of statistics reports that in 1962-63, there were 92 universities and colleges, 46 federal and provincial departments and agencies, 96 public libraries, and 213 private business and trade schools conducting adult education programs.

These figures are certainly larger this fall as the back-to-school movement begins.

TREE HUGGERS LOSE TO SAWS

CHICAGO (AP)—The battle was between the tree huggers and the city. The city won, 100-0.

Conservationist Stuart Chase described the holding action on the lakefront Thursday day:

They started up their chain saw and, with blades whirling, charged at us and cut the tree off right on top of us. They tried to drop trees on people and wave whirling chain saws at everybody. If people had been chained to trees, they would have been cut in half.

People were hugging trees and standing next to trees, and they'd see how close they could cut. I swear, I thought they'd cut Bernie Baum's hand off."

Dr. Bernard Baum, 39, a sociologist, had sawdust in his hair as he talked to reporters,

Turkey, Iran Aid Pakistan

ISTANBUL (AP) — Turkey and Iran today rejected an appeal from ally Pakistan for jet aircraft but promised to provide other military aid, government sources said.

Both countries decided to aid Pakistan in its fight with India, these sources said.

The aid will include jet fuel and gasoline from Iran and guns and ammunition from Turkey. The latter are being sold by Turkey under a long-standing commercial agreement with Pakistan.

REPORT FLAYS PRIVATE STATIONS

'Worst of American Fare Dominates TV'

FOWLER
JUNK BBG

OTTAWA (CP) — Proposals for shaking up—violently—the entire Canadian radio and television industry were delivered to the government Thursday by the Fowler committee on broadcasting.

The bluntly-stated aim: Better and more balanced programming, less American and more Canadian content, to be enforced by regulation if necessary.

Chief proposal in the committee's 140,000-word report is creation of an all-powerful Canadian Broadcasting Authority.

It would set the general programming policies of the CBC directly and those of private stations, indirectly by giving life-or-death control of their licences.

It calls for abolition of the Board of Broadcast Governors, the present regulatory agency document of this kind," Mr. Ouimet said. "I am certain the CBC will have the opportunity of making its views known at the appropriate time, and we will certainly do so."

In Toronto, Jean Pouliot, president of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, criticized the report for taking what he described as a backward step in its recommendation that the proposed Canadian Broadcasting Authority appoint its own director-general.

State Secretary Lamontagne, the minister who reports to Parliament on broadcasting, said the report will need detailed study.

The committee said a get-tough attitude is needed to improve private TV where, for the most part, "the systematic mediocrity of programming is deplorable," dominated by the worst of American fare.

The investigation had turned up a flood of criticism about the quality of TV produced by private stations.

Private radio stations were criticized for becoming "a daily grind of news, weather, comedy and music, music, music—nearly all recorded."

Neither private radio nor TV was placing enough emphasis on Canadian talent. Figures for 1963 showed an average daily outlay for artistic talent of $22.29 by radio stations and $110 by TV stations.

These figures were described as "deplorably low" and a "disgrace."

"There is no point in asking where a national broadcast system is going. It will go only where it is pushed by conscious and articulate public policy, or where it drifts if there is no policy."

On color TV: "A program of lack-luster quality will still be a pallid offering even if all the colors of the rainbow are added to it."

"The Canadian broadcasting system has become mature physically; it should now become mature mentally."

"Mediocrity and triviality are more damaging to Canadian television and its audiences than an occasional controversial program."

FUTURE ARCHITECTS enrolled in first and second year studies at University of B.C. are here for 10 days to sketch old buildings of Victoria as part of their training. About 70 students under direction of professors Lionel Thomas, Robin Clarke and Hadi Pendar started Thursday with row of early homes on Amelia Street (above) with Kari Mahlbut foreground. They switched this morning to Bastion Square. "An architect is close to the artist and must become facile in drawing, painting techniques, the use of space and color," Prof. Thomas said. Students hope to have public exhibition of their work before departure Sept. 17, if an appropriate place can be found. Meanwhile, they will hold their first group critique tonight with two days' work pinned up on walls of a Chinese restaurant. Last year's classes went to the Kootenays. (Times photo.)

Key Witness On the Loose, Says Lawyer

One of the juveniles at whom Kenneth Russell is alleged to have pointed a gun has since escaped from custody, a lawyer stated in court today.

Dermot Owen-Flood made the statement at resumption of the trial of the former night supervisor at the Juvenile Detention Home.

Russell faces two counts of unlawfully pointing a gun at two inmates during an incident at the detention centre on the night of Aug. 2.

FROM BRANNEN

When the trial continued today Mr. Owen-Flood said that a witness in the case, who gave evidence earlier, has reportedly escaped from Brammen Lake School for delinquents.

He asked the Crown to produce the witness or a police officer who could testify to the escape.

Magistrate William Ostler said, "I'm sure the Crown would be delighted to produce him for you if he has escaped custody."

When she retired four years ago as prioress of St. Mary's in Colwood, there were assets of $750,000 in real estate, a downtown hotel and cash in the bank.

Since her retirement, after 40 years as head of the order, the hotel has been sold. But she estimated the assets probably are the same or higher because of net income.

WANTS CONTROL

The present objectives are to work among the aged, sick and poor "or other works of charity."

The money was specifically for the maintenance of the seven nuns including herself who are members of the same order.

"We have never asked them to support the shelter," she said.

Mother Cecilia said in addition to seeking to gain control of the priory's assets, the diocese also wanted her to make over

The proposed objectives exclude "or other works of charity" but include "to hold real property."

NO RIGHT

Mother Cecilia also said the priory has no right to stop the $50 monthly allowance.

MINUTES BEFORE

Just minutes before, Travers and Bowcott, along with Gerald Brune, Garden Park Court, had been committed for trial on the charge relating to Fairfield Pharmacy.

Bail for Brune was fixed at $1,000 cash at the request of his counsel, Alan Bliglow. He was immediately released.

Bowcott was remanded to Oct. 12 for trial on an assault charge and bail on this charge was set by Magistrate Ostler at $200 cash.

Remington was also remanded without bail to enable him to hire a lawyer.

FEELS BADLY

Asked what she thought of the orders, the introduction of an American priress, stopping the allowance and other inconveniences, she replied:

"I feel pretty badly about it. It is a whole life's work. From early morning to 11 at night I have worked like the Dickens."

"It is 40 years of real hard work and careful planning."

A stronger sentiment was expressed by her brother, Warwick Dodd, manager of a decorative art studio on Quadra St.

"DISGUST"

He said he is "filled with disgust in reading of the 'starve you out' method" employed against Mother Cecilia and the sisters of the Good Shepherd Shelter.

He felt "shame" for Rev. Andrew Keber, the church-appointed apostolic visitor to the priory, and Mother Ferdinand, "for conspiring to destroy the Good Shepherd Shelter by leaving them penniless."

He said: "Surely this is not a demonstration of the love of Jesus."

Woman Killed Going to See Sick Father

By AB KENT

Two members of Victoria city council today appeared ready to square off for the mayoralty election in December.

An announcement by Ald. A. W. Toone was expected shortly, coming on the heels of a declaration by Ald. M. H. Mooney that he would seek council leadership this year.

A race for the top civic spot this year would be the first in four years.

Ex-council candidate William A. Scott has already declared for the mayoralty.

Mayor R. B. Wilson's second term expires Dec. 31 and he says he will not seek re-election.

He was first elected by a 5-1 majority running against former alderman J. Donald Smith in December, 1961.

By ACCLAMATION

The mayor went in by acclamation for his second two-year term in 1964, the win deemed a vote of confidence in his sweeping civic improvement policies.

Ald. Toone has been a chairman of civic improvement and beautification projects for several years and has shown himself in sympathy with the mayor's thinking.

Had he stayed in Lynden hospital his daughter would probably be alive today.

Mrs. Jacobs left Victoria earlier this week after reports that her father's condition was worsening.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said the departure from the traditional course of recruiting departmental officials from the public schools of the province reflects significant shift in educational emphasis.

"The era we're now entering just as the recent past was characterized by mass education at the secondary level—I think can be characterized by mass education at the post-secondary level," Mr. Peterson said.

And he probably is the first deputy minister to be recruited directly from a university campus.

Mr. Peterson said Dr. Perry made a considerable personal sacrifice in salary and associations with UBC with his agreement.

TREE HUGGERS LOSE TO SAWS

CHICAGO (AP)—The battle was between the tree huggers and the city. The city won, 100-0.

Conservative Stuart Chase described the holding action on the lakefront Thursday:

"They started up their chain saws and, with blades whirling, charged at us and cut the tree off right on top of us. They tried to drop trees on people and wave whirling chain saws at everybody. If people had been chained to trees, they would have been cut in half."

Dr. Bernard Baum, 39, a sociologist, had sawdust in his hair as he talked to reporters.

Turkey, Iran Aid Pakistan

ISTANBUL (AP)—Turkey and Iran today rejected an appeal from ally Pakistan for jet aircraft but promised to provide other military aid, government sources said.

Both countries decided to aid Pakistan in its fight with India, these sources said.

The aid will include jet fuel and gasoline from Iran and guns and ammunition from Turkey. The latter are being sold by Turkey under a long-standing commercial agreement with Pakistan.

FINAL ★★ BULLETINS

Most Wanted Criminal Killed

MOUNT WASHINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—A fleeing accused killer on the "10 most wanted list" of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was killed when his car left the highway during a high speed police chase south of here.

Warren Cleveland Osborne, 45, Nashville, Tenn., wanted for the fatal shooting of a Nashville beauty shop operator last year, was thrown from the vehicle and was dead when pursuing officers arrived at the crash scene.

Medicare Extension Urged

Health Minister Eric Martin today said he will press for inclusion of mentally-ill patients and tuberculosis patients under the proposed national medicare plan.

"Mental illness is our most serious health problem and it is time it was included in our federal-provincial hospital insurance program," he said while commenting on the forthcoming federal-provincial medicare conference scheduled for Sept. 23-24 in Ottawa.

Cricket Classic Halted By Rain

SCARBOROUGH, Eng. (Reuters)—Rain prevented what could have been an exciting finish on the last day of the cricket match between England and "the Rest of the World" here today.

The Rest had just declared at 153 for 4, leaving the opponents 160 minutes to score 209 when the rain started and washed out any hopes of more play for the crowd of 7,000.

OIL WORKERS POISED FOR CANADA STRIKE

U Thant Ceasefire Try Fails

(Times News Services)

Pakistan today rejected a United Nations effort to obtain a cease-fire in the undeclared war with India.

A government official in the Pakistan capital of Rawalpindi said two days of talks between United Nations Secretary-General U Thant and Pakistani officials have not brought a halt to the fighting any closer.

The spokesman said Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto, who met Thant for talks today, told the secretary-general Pakistan is unwilling to accept a peace which might be temporary although he said Pakistan still wants friendship with India in the long run.

Bhutto told Thant that peace without an effective settlement of the Kashmir dispute means Pakistan would be "sitting again on a time bomb which may explode at any moment," the spokesman said.

Thant also plans to talk with Indian leaders in New Delhi.

Meanwhile, Indian Defence Minister Y. B. Chavan told parliament Indian troops had retreated on the Jalore front under weight of a massive Pakistani armored attack which spilled across the border into India's Punjab State.

Pakistan officials declared the tide of battle had turned in the undeclared war. Pakistan radio said "the enemy has been thrown back in all sectors inside Indian territory and across the border" by a "relentless" Pakistani drive.

Each side was committing troops, tanks and planes into the battle and each claimed to be inflicting heavy losses.

Chavan said that on the northern front Pakistani troops had retreated.

One hundred trees fell as the city began widening and straightening South Shore Drive through three city parks, including the huge Jackson Park, one of the most beautiful urban parks in the United States.

The 75 or so stalwarts of the Burnham Association—named for Daniel Burnham who was responsible for the design of Jackson Park—say the $6,000,000, high-speed, eight-lane divided road is no substitute for 800 trees and lost park space.

"What are 800 trees against a saving of, say, two lives a year?" said Commissioner Milton Pikarsky of the Chicago department of public works in an interview.

Pikarsky said there were 500 serious accidents—four of them fatal—in 1962 in the 20-block stretch of the road to be rebuilt.

Pikarsky said he had received dozens of telephone calls. "The kindest thing the callers told me was to drop dead."

VIET CONG 'STRONGHOLD' MERE HAMLET

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. and Vietnamese special forces today occupied the hamlet of Phuoc Xa Tay 325 miles northeast of Saigon after B-52 bombers from Guam dumped hundreds of tons of bombs. But the area, long considered an impenetrable, communist stronghold, was deserted.

The village had been described as a major Viet Cong communications centre garrisoned by 200 men but a force of 200 men flown in by helicopter found only oxcart trails which showed up on photographs as sandbagged trenches.

A dispatch from the scene said what had appeared to be radio antennas turned out to be bamboo spikes and that the costly operation had gone for nothing although the planes did deliver their bombs on target with devastating efficiency.

FIREMEN LEADS two women from their homes in waist-deep flood waters after Hurricane Betsy swept through New Orleans late Thursday night causing heavy damage. (AP Wirephoto.)

Hurricane Rips New Orleans In Final Furious Onslaught

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hurricane Betsy flung spray and seas at the gulf coast and then stormed up the Mississippi River early today in what probably was its final black night of ruin.

The weather bureau said Betsy would weaken to heavy rains and winds in northern Louisiana and Mississippi.

The almost 250,000 evacuees from Louisiana and Mississippi would begin to return to towns and cities left soggy junkyards by the hurricane.

The wind turned the Mississippi waterfront into maelstroms of helpless ships, blown loose from their moorings and battering each other.

The New Orleans harbor patrol said six ocean-going vessels had broken free. Five had some crews aboard but were powerless and at the mercy of wind and current.

One of them, the Wing Arrow, was swept upstream, hit another freighter in the middle of the river, swerved into a cluster of tugs, then struck several moored vessels where her crew managed to get a line ashore. Others hit wharves.

Emerging from the nightmare night of power blackouts, waist-deep floods and blocked streets, officials reported one woman died of a heart attack in a New Orleans shelter and injuries were too numerous to be counted.

Isolated cases of looting were reported. Five persons were arrested as police appealed to merchants to man their shattered stores to keep looters out.

STRUCK AT MIDNIGHT

As it had to Miami two days before, the hurricane struck New Orleans at midnight.

Church bells banged wildly in the wind. Police sirens echoed. Burglar alarms set off by broken windows shrilled like angry telephones. Sheets of rain as big as double beds were wrenching from roofs skinned before the wind, clanging as they went.

The eye of the storm had already hit Florida and the Bahamas skirted New Orleans to the west after feinting its terrifying punch in several directions along the gulf coast.

Trees bent, then cracked. Power lines snapped. Windows splintered causing several injuries.

Mayor Victor Schiro said his city had suffered extensive damage and recommended to Governor John McKeithen it be declared a disaster area. The governor said he would take prompt steps to do so.

POWER FAILED

Police in the city were hampered in reporting damage as two-thirds of their radio frequencies were out because of power failure and the others were jammed.

In the state capital of Baton Rouge, state police headquarters had to transfer to emergency generators.

The wind was reported to have peaked at 140 m.p.h. at Thibodaux. The Lake Charles weather bureau station took over tracking the storm after

SASKATOON UNIT GOES OUT

Saskatoon Unit Goes Out

SASKATOON (CP)—Six employees of Empire Oil Co. Ltd. went on strike today for higher wages in a move that could become nation-wide.

Mike Germann, president of the Saskatoon Local of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union (CLC) said 105 employees at the Royaltite Co. Ltd. refinery here would walk out Monday if a settlement was not reached during the weekend.

Royaltite workers joined Empire Oil employees in a picket line at the Empire plant.

This will be the start of a nation-wide strike if no settlement is reached during the weekend, Mr. Germann said.

James R. Duncan, Canadian director of the union, said Thursday in Toronto a general strike would involve 3,500 workers.

Mr. Duncan said the strike could eventually involve all major oil refineries from Saint John, N.B., to Vancouver.

In Port Credit, Ont., the Texaco of Canada Ltd. branch of Local 9-593 voted Thursday to go out on strike if necessary.

John Kane, president of the local, said the 161 Texaco workers voted almost 97 per cent in favor of strike action.

Another branch of the local, some 370 workers at the Clarkson plant of British American Oil, voted Wednesday in favor of a strike vote at the British Petroleum Ltd. refinery at Oakville are expected to be made public today.

Mr. Kane said other locals, five in Toronto and one in Hamilton, have scheduled strike votes for next week.

The union is asking a 40-cent-an-hour increase over the current average $2.75—an hour wage. Management has offered 10 cents.

Peterson Would Act

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson today indicated he will take action aimed at preventing a strike in the B.C. oil industry.

He declined to comment on what his department is doing now towards heading off the strike threat but added:

"I would regard a work stoppage in that industry as very serious indeed and I personally, as well as my department, will do everything possible to avert it."

Lions Hold Cablevision Injunction

VANCOUVER (CP)—Herb Capozzi, general manager of the British Columbia Lions football club, said today the team has obtained an injunction compelling the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to provide Victoria cablevision subscribers with its next two games.

However, Mr. Capozzi says the Lions have not yet served the injunction on the CBC and he declined to say if this would be done.

The injunction was obtained today in British Columbia Supreme Court after the Lions' lawyer told Mr. Justice Angelo Branca that the CBC must meet an obligation to deliver the signal.

HELSINKI—Lari, a dog that can smell out iron ore deposits, has been awarded 7,000 marks (about $2,400) worth of sausages by the Finnish government.

The man who originally thought up the idea of training the dog, a German Shepherd, received 1,500 marks (about $550). In a competition between Lari and an ore prospector, Lari turned up 1,330 pieces of rock of geological interest while the man found only 210 in the same area.

The Finns now are training a second ore-dog.

CASTELGANDOLFO, Italy—Pope Paul VI has accepted a gift of a new German-built limousine, commenting that the sport of auto racing was both "beautiful and frightening."

The automobile—the longest in the stable of papal cars—has been presented by chairman Herman Bas and other representatives of the German (Mercedes) car firm.

The limousine is equipped with air-conditioning, telephone and television. The Pontiff thanked the German delegation for the gift and immediately took a trial run in the limousine through the gardens of the papal summer residence at Castelgandolfo.

MOSCOW—The Soviets are using matchbook covers to give women fashion tips. The program is part of the new campaign to make Russian women more attractive.

The matchbooks carry pictures of models in dresses and suits plus a leaflet titled "Everyone can learn the art of fashion."

VANCOUVER—Unexpected notoriety came Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood and their two teenage daughters of Montreal, and all because their train was late.

They were to board the P and O-Orient liner Oriana, due to sail at noon for Sydney, Australia. But by noon their train had not arrived from the east.

The liner was held at her dock. A dockside band delved deep into its repertoire to keep passengers lining the railings amused.

Finally the Woods arrived. They were greeted by a loud blast of trumpets from the band and the cheers and hand-clapping of more than 1,900 shipboard passengers.

Then the Oriana cast off—25 minutes late.

SAN FRANCISCO—How do you store a cold cache of hot ice cream?

San Francisco police are looking for thieves who have that problem. Eight thousand ice cream bars were among the loot taken in a burglary of the Crown Vending Company.

PAKISTAN

shells fell on Ferozepore, 10 miles inside India.

Pakistan asserted its troops had crossed into India on this front and had captured positions 20 miles from Amritsar, 50 miles north of Ferozepore.

India charged Pakistan planes attacked the air field at Baghodra, one of the most important in eastern India, 24 miles south of Darjeeling. A spokesman said two planes were destroyed on the ground and a Pakistani Sabre jet was shot down.

"India has not wanted to extend the fighting to the eastern sector," he said. "But this is one more example of Pakistani aggressive action which could lead to an escalation of the fighting."

This led to speculation the fighting would spread to the east, where New Delhi has complained Pakistani troops have been firing on Indian positions. East and West Pakistan are divided by 1,000 miles of Indian territory.

Without confirmation, press reports said 300 Pakistani paratroopers were dropped east of Darjeeling in Assam state between Shillong, the state capital, and Gauhati. The latter is a centre for the main supply route to Indian forces in the northeast frontier agency, where they face Chinese Communist troops.

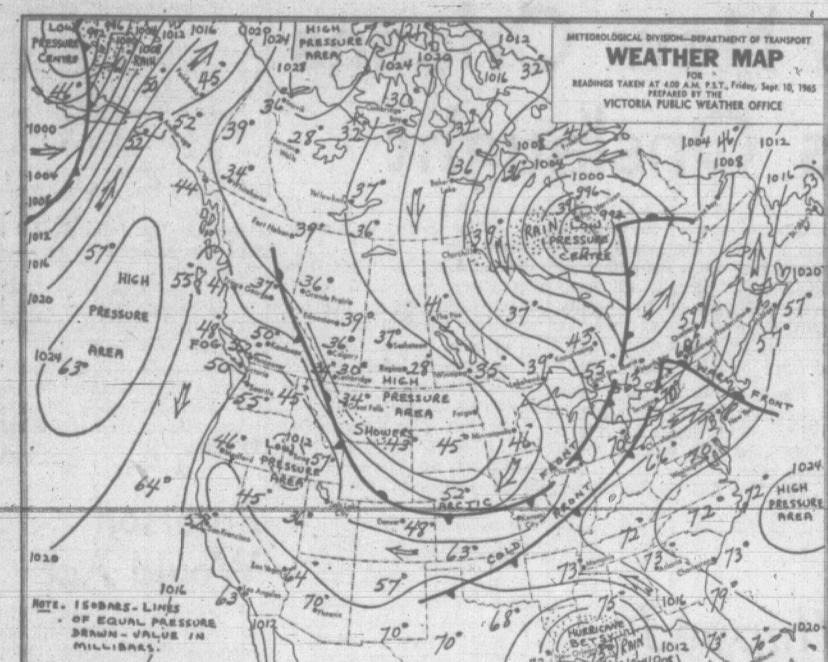

NEW TUG

The company's marine fleet and ready-mix concrete fleet also share in the expansion plans.

A new 68-foot twin-screw 760 horsepower tug, a 2,000-ton self-unloading aggregate barge and a 2,000-ton scow will be built and the well-known coastal tug M. V. Gilkwill will be modernized and re-powered.

Total cost of the marine program will be $655,000.

Six new 10-yard ready mix concrete trucks will be bought at a cost of $35,000 each and other additions and replacements will be made to rolling stock for a total cost of $614,000.
